Michigan Democrats Oppose Seating Of Anti-Truman Texans

By JACK I. GREEN

CHICAGO — (AP) — Michigan Democrats, like their Republican opposites two weeks ago, today stood in front ranks of a convention fight over seating disputed Southern delegates.

U. S. Senator Blair Moody of Michigan secured the unanimous approval of the Michigan Democratic delegation to cast its full 40 votes to reject the seating of anti-Truman delegates from Texas and Mississippi unless these delegates agree to place the convention's presidential and vice-presidential nominees on their state ballots.

"Those delegations," Moody said, "include people reported to have said that unless the convention nominates candidates to suit them they may rig their elections in such a way that the people have no way to vote for the nominees of this convention. x x x They may vote for Republicans or Democrats."

"This plan," he said, "in no way limits the right of any individual to vote for any one he chooses, but only blocks any move to bar the people of the South from a chance to vote for a liberal candidate if we can nominate one."

Two weeks ago the Michigan delegation at the GOP National convention helped to unseat Southern delegates in the Eisenhower "fair play" fight.

The 131 delegates and alternates dropped a series of minor feuds to shout endorsement of Moody's stand.

Governor G. Mennen Williams, delegation chairman, at his request was authorized to make a motion or second a motion to accomplish the purpose stated by Moody.

The delegates, in a three-hour caucus, elected Ernest J. Lacey, deputy Wayne county clerk, as the state's new national committee man. Backed by Williams and the CIO, Lacey defeated Ben Levinson, of Detroit, the Teamsters union candidate, and James P. Dunnigan, Mt. Pleasant oil operator.

Mrs. Margaret Price of Ann Arbor was elected national committee woman without opposition. Lacey succeeds George S. Fitzgerald.

Sergeant Killed As Grenade Explodes

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — An exploding hand grenade in a barracks full of visitors killed a sergeant yesterday and injured 10 enlisted men and non-commissioned officers.

Families of the soldiers had come to visit them in the barracks and witnesses said the grenade exploded while a sergeant was showing to his children. Two of the injured were reported in a serious condition.

Despite a ruling from the convention parliamentarian, Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri, that Michigan must follow the unit rule imposed by its state convention, dissident delegates sought another conference with Cannon today in the hope of changing his mind.

August Scholle, state CIO chairman, who fought the unit rule at a caucus last week, reversed last night and accepted it.

Iranian Rioters Slain By Police

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP) — Iran's capital was racked by near-revolutionary violence today as Communist-strengthened Nationalist mobs rioted against new Premier Ahmed Gavam and the government struck back with shots, tear gas and bayonets.

At least three persons and perhaps more, were killed when government forces fired into a crowd of 2,000 trying to storm the Parliament building.

Wild disorder reigned throughout the city. Countless numbers of demonstrators were injured or arrested. In many instances troops charged into surging crowds with fixed bayonets, leaving bloodied injured behind.

"Death to Gavam," the mobs shouted wildly. The populace has been furious over the new premier's declaration that a settlement of Iran's long and crippling oil dispute with Britain would be a chief aim of his regime. He said Nationalist violence would not stop him.

Today's demonstrators were supporters of the former premier, Nationalist leader Mohammed Mossadeq, but many members of the outlawed Communist Tudeh party swelled the crowds.

The ultra-Nationalist Pan-Iran party, spearhead of a drive to force Mossadeq back into power, has threatened Gavam with assassination. Killing of Premier Ali Razmara in March, 1951, by a religious fanatic was a powerful aid to the Nationalist drive which resulted in nationalization of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil company's properties in Iran.

Witnesses to the firing in the Parliament Square said police and soldiers opened up with revolvers and automatic rifles as some demonstrators attempted to climb the gates and walls. The soldiers fired into the air at first in an effort to disperse the crowd. When this failed, they threw tear gas.

The April riot ended after authorities agreed to reforms demanded by the mutineers and promised them an ice cream and steak dinner. One convict was killed and a score of inmates and guards wounded.

Prison officials said there would be a coroner's inquest into Moore's death and Shiraeff would be turned over to civil officials for prosecution.

Earthquake Hits Mountain Area Of California; Whole City May Be Wiped Out

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — At least 12 persons died today as California's strongest earthquake in nearly a half-century hit with sudden violence in sparse-settled mountains north of here.

Rescue crews trying to reach the stricken town of Tehachapi fought against blocked roads and downed power lines.

Reports filtering out of the little Mosoin community pleaded for doctors and nurses.

Sheriff's Capt. F. D. Jones in Bakersfield, nearest major city to the quake zone, said, "Apparently there are many injuries."

Two tunnels, used jointly by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads were blocked by cave-ins, Jones reported.

He added that the situation on the main highway between Bakersfield and the desert town of Mojave, which goes through Tehachapi, was so bad that ambulances and sheriff's cars were trying an old road through the hills.

Covered Wide Area

"We don't know whether we can get through there, either," he added.

One report to the sheriff's office said "The whole town of Tehachapi is down."

The quake was felt generally through much of California, from San Francisco south to the Mexican border and inland into Nevada.

The ridge route, (U. S.-99) main inland highway between here and San Francisco, was closed by a towering earth slide, which the state highway patrol reported was 25 feet high at one point.

"The whole top of a mountain seems to have slid off," said one patrolman. The slide occurred near Gorman, and officers were rushed into the area to try to untangle the traffic.

Jackson Prison Convict Slain

JACKSON, Mich. — (AP) — Quiet was restored to Southern Michigan prison today after a fatal stabbing Sunday brought the second outbreak of violence since the five-day, million dollar riot in April.

A prison guard had to rescue John E. Shiraeff, 18, from enraged fellow prisoners after he had stabbed another convict to death.

Fellow inmates dragged Shiraeff into cell block No. 9 and began beating him after Harold Edward Moore, 21, fell mortally wounded during an exercise period. However, they did not resist when guard Sgt. Frank Mosher went in and got Shiraeff before the fighting could spread.

Warden William Bannan said the incident involved no revolt against prison authority. State Police were summoned but took no action when they arrived to find things under control.

Bannan said there had been blood among the inmates of cell block No. 9 because of the forming of rival gangs during the April 20-25 rioting.

The warden described Shiraeff as a psychopath with a persecution complex. Shiraeff told the warden that Moore had been picking on him.

Moore died of loss of blood before he could be gotten to the prison hospital. Shiraeff was treated for head cuts administered in the beating.

This would seem to put quake on the rambling San Andres fault, scene of most of California's severe quakes. San Andres cuts through the mountains near Gorman.

Tehachapi, (Ta-hatch'-a-pea) a town of about 3,000 population, has only a few stores and its biggest building is an old three-story hotel.

The first report of loss of life came from the Kern County sheriff's office, in Bakersfield.

Sgt. Carl L. Weber said "The whole town of Tehachapi is down, according to our reports."

He ordered all available ambulances from Bakersfield and other Kern County towns, and from the naval ordinance test station at China Lake, northeast of the little town in the foothills of the Tehachapi mountains.

Fire in the Paloma oil field, about seven miles southwest of Bakersfield, swept storage tanks within moments after the quake, Weber said. There was no reported loss of life there.

Reached High Intensity

Next Move Not Sure In 50-Day Steel Shutdown

By JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Philip Murray summoned his 170-man wage policy committee to this steel capital today (10 a. m. EST) for a possibly momentous session on the big question:

"What's next in the 50-day-old crippling steel strike?"

But it is doubtful if the committee—composed of CIO United Steelworkers' leaders—will do anything to end the walkout which has idled more than 1,500,000 workers, including 900,000 in allied and steel-using industries.

It might also ask Murray to take a new position on a contract, cancelling out any tentative agreements reached between Murray and industry in recent weeks.

Both parties reportedly agree on a wage package which is likely to total around 25 cents an hour, a cent less than the Wage Stabilization Board's recommendation.

And despite contradictory reports from Washington in recent weeks, industry seems confident it will get permission to raise steel prices about $5 a ton—once it and union agree on a new contract.

If nothing comes from Murray's closest session with his wage policy committee today, the government may decide to move ahead with a plan to seize a small number of plants under the 1948 Selective Service Act.

The act permits seizure under certain emergency conditions. It would apply to mills producing steel for such defense items as bullets, tanks, etc. Workers in affected plants presumably would be barred from striking against the government as temporary operators of the mills.

President Truman first seized the steel industry last April 8. But two months later the Supreme Court in a 6 to 3 opinion ruled the seizure unconstitutional and ordered the mills returned to private owners. The steel strike followed June 2.

Murray and industry representatives met again Sunday under government prodding to end the walk-

Osceola Mine To Be Reopened

HOUGHTON, Mich. — (AP) — The huge, waterlogged Osceola copper mine will be reopened after lying idle for 21 years—but it will take 530 days to clear the mine of water.

The Defense Materials Procurement Agency in Washington announced last night that the Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper Co. had agreed to rehabilitate the mine at its own expense.

The company will provide all necessary facilities for processing the ore obtained. DMPA chief Jess Larson said the company's cost will be about six million dollars.

The DMPA said the Osceola mine and a connecting mine, the Conglomerate, closed down in the late 1930's, are both full of water.

About seven billion gallons must be pumped out down to the 3,600 foot level, about 2,200 feet below the surface, DMPA said.

Larson said that in return the government will guarantee the company a negotiated floor-price of 25.25 cents a pound, five-eighths of a cent above the present ceiling price, for up to 53,000 tons of refined copper.

Thus the government is guaranteeing a price of 25.25 if the company can not dispose of it at a higher price to industry.

Because the water is highly corrosive, special pumps and piping columns will be used. The 23 pumps, to be suspended on cables and lowered into the mine as the water level recedes, will cost as much as $24,000 each.

Alger Claims He Is Leading Vote-Getter

(By The Associated Press)

Michigan Secretary of State Fred M. Alger Jr. today claimed he is the Republican party's "strongest vote-getter" among candidates for governor.

Alger told a Pontiac group that he polled more votes in 1950 than any candidate for state office, including Gov. G. Mennen Williams and one of his GOP opponents—a reference to Lieut. Gov. William C. Vandenberg.

Citing his record in office, Alger said that during his three terms as secretary of state he had streamlined the department, reducing personnel by seven per cent despite an increased work load of 40 per cent.

Leonard Asks Apology

Alger was the target of a barb from another GOP gubernatorial candidate, Donald S. Leonard.

Speaking in Detroit, Leonard said, "I think Alger owes an apology to the Republicans of Michigan and of Wayne County in particular. This county has sent many senators and representatives of ability and integrity to the Legislature."

Alger was quoted as saying in a Detroit speech last week that

WALTER H. HOLRETH

W. H. Holreth, Oldest Press Employe, Dies

Walter H. Holreth, 73, of 416 S. 6th St., "Holly" to his friends throughout the community, died at 1:35 p. m. Sunday at St. Francis Hospital. He had been in poor health since March and entered the hospital last Friday. He was the oldest employe of the Escanaba Daily Press both in years of service and age.

Mr. Holreth, whose tireless and faithful work with the late John P. Norton was largely responsible for the advancement of the Press in its early days, was born in Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 24, 1879.

He entered the newspaper field at an early age and was associated with a number of publications before coming to Escanaba to take the position of linotype operator for the old Escanaba Daily Mirror of which the late Ivan G. English was publisher. He entered the employ of the Daily Press in 1911 to form a life-long friendship and business association with its publisher.

He later transferred from the mechanical department to the advertising department and at the time of his death was manager of national advertising for the paper.

On the occasion of his 72nd birthday anniversary he was honored by his fellow employes and presented with a gift. A few months later he was accorded the honor of "pressing the button" to start the first official run of the paper's new Goss Dek-A-Tube tubular printing press.

He was one of the oldest members of Escanaba Lodge 354, B. P. O. E.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. William Otte of Chicago; one brother, Hugo Holreth, Jefferson City; and several nieces and nephews including Raymond Otte of Skokie, Ill., who with his wife arrived here Sunday night.

The body was taken to the Anderson funeral home.

The body will lie in state beginning Tuesday afternoon at the Anderson funeral home. Private funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. with Rev. Joseph S. Dickson of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church officiating at the funeral home.

One of the governor's aides outlined his own views this way: He believes Stevenson would accept a "genuine" draft. That means, he added, a draft that would not be "contrived" by a few leaders but one that would develop among a great number of delegates.

Governor Gives Warm Welcome To Democrats

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO — (AP) — Adlai Stevenson, with talk of drafting him as a presidential nominee buzzing about the Democratic convention, today told delegates the party will never apologize for its 20th century leadership.

"Who leads us is less important than what leads us," the Illinois governor said in a prepared welcoming speech.

He went to the rostrum at the opening convention session amid signs of a growing draft-Stevenson sentiment. Said former Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois: "We're definitely going to draft him."

"What counts now," Stevenson said in his speech, "is not just what we are against but what we are for. x x x A man doesn't save a century or a civilization, but a militant party wedded to a principle can."

Shortly after Lucas' prediction last night, a poll of Pennsylvania delegates on their "personal choice" was topped by Stevenson with 32 votes. This, although not binding, was billed in advance as the possible starter button for a Stevenson bandwagon.

"I hope our preoccupation here," Stevenson's speech went on, "is not just with personalities but with objectives. x x x What America needs and the world wants is not bombast, abuse and double talk, but a sober message of firm faith and confidence."

(Joseph L. Gill, chairman of the Illinois delegation, said last night: "He didn't say he would not accept a draft." This followed Stevenson's statement to the 60-vote group that, "I just don't want to be nominated for the presidency.")

Stevenson counseled in his speech that Democrats must not deny their errors or make excuses "where we have wronged the public trust." Then he added:

"But we will never appease, nor will we apologize for our leadership in the great events of this critical century from Woodrow Wilson to Harry Truman!"

"We glory in these imperishable pages of our country's chronicle."

In the poll of Pennsylvania's 70-vote delegation, Stevenson votes were cast, among others, by Chairman Francis J. Myers; Maurice Splain Jr., the party's state chairman, and by national committee man David Lawrence.

Illinois chairman Gill said he believes Stevenson's name will be placed in nomination.

"Stevenson could not turn down the nomination if it were a legitimate draft and if he agreed to the party platform," said Jacob M. Arvey, Illinois national committeeman.

One of the governor's aides outlined his own views this way: He believes Stevenson would accept a "genuine" draft. That means, he added, a draft that would not be "contrived" by a few leaders but one that would develop among a great number of delegates.

Newsman asked Stevenson if he would accept a draft if the convention deadlocked. He replied: "You'd have to show me the deadlock first."

Dean Repeats Germ Warfare Charges

CANTERBURY, England — (AP) — Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the "Red" Dean of Canterbury, last night carried his charges of American germ warfare to the pulpit of Canterbury Cathedral, the 1,000-year-old main seat of the Church of England.

A small, elderly woman tried to bar the pro-Communist dean from speaking. "I defy you to go into the pulpit," she said, but he brushed her aside. Then, in a 40-minute sermon, he repeated his allegation that a recent trip to China he saw proof U. S. planes have dropped germ-laden bombs in China and North Korea.

PAINT PLANT BURNS

MILAN, Italy — (AP) — All of Milan's fire fighting forces and equipment battled through last night against a spectacular fire that destroyed one of Italy's largest paint and dye factories. Company officials estimated the loss at more than $1,500,000.

Wayne County sent "political seum" to the Legislature.

"It does not seem to me," Leonard added, "that a candidate can ask for the support of the Republicans of this state, to be named as their standard bearer, if he has such a low regard for candidates the party has chosen for its Legislature in times past."

Vandenberg aimed his brickbats at Democratic Gov. Williams' financial policy.

The Lieut. Gov. told a group of Kent County supporters, "The Democratic governor of Michigan wants a tax on business profits. He wants it so badly that he has nullified sound legislative financing through the use of his veto powers."

Vandenberg said Williams contends such a tax would not cost the consumers anything but he added, "Every tax on business is bound to show up in prices, for there is no other source from which the money for the taxes can come—and the prices are paid by the consuming public."

Laywomen Hear Bishop Wright

A stirring and at times highly dramatic address dealing mainly with the true conception of his church was delivered by the Most Rev. John J. Wright, D. D., Bishop of Worcester, Mass., at the banquet of the National Laywoman's Retreat Movement conference here Saturday evening at St. Joseph's parish hall.

A churchman of magnetic personality and a zealous crusader, Bishop Wright declared that the Catholic Church is not purely organizational, it is not merely a cultural society and is surely is not a political organization, but it is that which Joan of Arc expressed when she said, "I draw no distinction between Christ and His Church. It is one."

The same Christ who went about Judea performing good works goes about the world today in His mystical presence, the Bishop said.

Need of the Day

"We need this Christ conception in our church today as we need nothing else," he declared, citing in detail persecution in Communist ridden countries and understandings at home.

"The Church belongs to Christ totally and absolutely," he said, "and it exists solely to do His work." Developing this theme he cautioned that we are entering a period in history in which certain aspects of church work may well fall more and more on the laity.

In closing he described the retreat house as "a seminary for the laity" and urged adherence to the precepts of the "church which is Christ."

Bishop Wright was introduced by the Rev. Joseph Dunleavy, diocesan moderator, who was chairman of the banquet program. The opening and closing prayers were delivered by the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, Bishop of Marquette.

Daisies in green and white with cedar boughs and white tapers in silver candelabra and in low crystal holders formed the decorative theme of the well prepared and well served banquet. Mrs. Robert LeMire and Mrs. John Bissell were in charge of the decorations. Dinner music was played during the banquet by Mrs. Donald LeMire.

Saturday Sessions

Miss Mary Jane Sullivan of St. Louis, national executive secretary, addressed the late morning session Saturday, her top, "The Lay Apostolate and the Retreat Movement."

"As women we have a need to be needed and Christ has need of us to keep spreading His word throughout the world," she said. She stressed the importance of a trained laity and emphasized the value of a closed retreat annually as a means of becoming an effective lay apostolate. She touched briefly on the need of education on the movement, which is encompassed in the regional meetings, told of the work of the central office and in closing urged individual memberships in the organization.

The Rev. Leo C. Byrne, also of St. Louis, presided as moderator of the discussion from the floor. Miss Catherine V. Carney of Chicago, mid-west regional vice president, was chairman and the Rev. John Ratchford of Kampsville, Ill., opened and closed the session with prayer.

Noon Luncheons

Noon luncheons, at the Delta Hotel for the guests and delegates and at the Sherman Hotel for board members of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women were followed by 2 p. m. special sessions for the clergy and for youth, the former at St. Joseph's School and the latter at St. Patrick's Hall. The Rev. John V. Suhr, diocesan director radio apostolate, was chairman of the clergy session and the Rev. John McGowan, C. M., Spring Lake, Wis., was moderator. The panel discussion was on "The Priest's Role in Retreat Work."

Miss Mary Andary of Sault Ste. Marie was chairman of the youth session, Father Ratchford, moderator and the Rev. Francis Hollen-

More Liberal Hunting Season

LANSING—More liberal small game hunting seasons will face next fall's hunters.

Continuing the maximum 22-day pheasant shoot allowed by statute, the conservation commission also has approved some extension of ruffed grouse, prairie chicken, sharp-tail, snowshoe and cottontail hunting. Bag limits will be the same as last year.

Start of the lower peninsula ringneck season has been set back five days, running Oct. 20-Nov. 10 instead of Oct. 15-Nov. 5 as last year. Repeating is a 10-day Upper Peninsula season, Oct. 1-10, confined again to that part of Menominee county south of US-2.

A Communion breakfast was served in St. Joseph's hall following the Sunday morning conference mass and an open house followed at Marygrove Resale House.

no hunting on Beaver Island. Zone three dates are Oct. 20-Jan. 31 (Oct. 15-Dec. 31 before).

Prairie chicken and sharp-tailed grouse—zone one, Oct. 1-Nov. 10 (Oct. 1-20 before). Entire Lower Peninsula, open season only in Antrim, Otsego, Crawford, Kalkaska, Missaukee and Roscommon counties, Oct. 1-22 (Oct. 15-Nov. 5 before and confined to the last four counties named).

Gray and fox squirrel—zones two and three, Oct. 20-Nov. 10 (Oct. 15-Nov. 5 before).

Gray squirrel only—zone one, Oct. 1-20 or same dates as last year. Excluded are Chippewa, Luce, Mackinac and Schoolcraft counties and part of Alger county.

The conservation commission is expected to set deer hunting seasons at its August 7-8 meeting at the Higgins Lake training school. Action has been deferred until August to give more time for consideration by the public and commission. Special seasons, camp permits and a reduction in legal antler length were studied some at the July two-day session.

Malayan Pupils Favor Medical Careers

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Seventy-five per cent of new students at the University of Malaya want to study medicine because of the professional standing of doctors in the community and their higher income, a university spokesman said.

Of 128 students, 85, including 15 girls, are entering the Faculty of Medicine, 26 the Faculty of Arts and 17 the Faculty of Science.

High Class Morons Best Auto Drivers, Seminar Discloses

CHICAGO—(AP)—The best type of motorist is not a person of high intelligence, but a high class moron, with a mental age of 10 or 12 years.

The job of operating an automobile is not for one who is mentally keen.

These observations were advanced at a seminar of Northwestern University's traffic institute by James Stannard Baker, director of the institute's research and development, Shaid Baker.

"The low mentality motorist, once he is taught to drive properly, will not deviate from what he has learned. The higher mentality is inclined to experiment and also to think about other things to the detriment of his driving."

Attending the seminar are automotive writers from metropolitan newspapers of 10 midwestern cities.

Cornell

CORNELL — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harrison and children of Milwaukee are visiting at the Charles Harrison home.

Joe Moon has been dismissed from the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital and returned to his home in Lansing. Joan and Larry Moon are convalescing at the home of their aunt, Mrs. C. E. South.

Mrs. White Honored

Mrs. LeRoy White was honored at her home Thursday evening on the occasion of her birthday. Games were played and a tasty lunch was served with a pink and white birthday cake centering the table. Mrs. White received many beautiful gifts. Those present were Mesdames Charles Harrison, Henry Rose, John Backlund, Eugene Gamache, Alfred Dahl Sr., Alfred Dahl Jr., and Miss Yvonne Gamache.

Briefly Told

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Taylor, of Wilmington, Del., Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McCoy of Donken and Miss Gladys Ford of Manistowick were weekend guests at the J. R. Lowell home, 524 South 12.

Service Restored—Water service was restored Saturday afternoon in an area adjacent to South 22nd St. where work on a storm sewer project caused service interruption.

Bitten By Dog—Albert Deiter Jr. of 1606 Stephenson Ave. was bitten Saturday by a dog owned by his father. Escanaba police ordered the dog confined for 10 days for rabies observation.

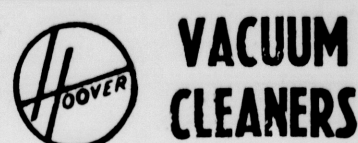

School Entered—The Franklin grade school was entered sometime during the weekend by vandals who broke a glass in the south door. A new football and two baseballs were reported missing.

Error Corrected—Willie E. Visnaw of North Bay was erroneously reported in Tuesday's edition of the Press to have been ticketed for reckless driving following an accident at the intersection of 23rd and Ludington Streets in the early morning of July 15. The ticketed party and driver of the automobile involved was Howard Visnaw of Wells.

New Vending Machine Gives Quick Lunch

NEW YORK—(AP)—People who eat on the run soon may be able to get a complete lunch—including hot sandwiches—from a vending machine.

A device is being manufactured with seven compartments which dispenses, when the proper coin are inserted, juices, hot or cold sandwiches, pies, pastries, coffee and chocolate milk.

Gas Conversion Job Nears End

The conversion of gas appliances in Escanaba from the old water-gas to the new propane is nearly completed by Universal Gas Conversion, Inc., and two men will remain here until July 30, according to Robert H. Bodoh, president.

A total of approximately 2,500 gas customers had appliances converted to propane use by company workmen since the job began June 25. Of this total, 180 of the customers were commercial, 221 were apartment dwellers, and the remainder were residential.

Encounter Some Delay
The progress of the work was speeded for the company but delayed somewhat for individual customers when propane gas leaked into the mains and caused the conversion program to become city-wide.

Bodoh said, however, that the maximum number of days without gas service was six for customers who were at home when the conversion men called. If the customer was not at home, however, his name went to the end of the list and the delay may have been longer.

Pesides converting and adjusting the appliances for the use of propane gas, workmen made certain recommendations for repair, replacement, or venting where it was required.

No Accidents Here
Bodoh pointed out that records show 523 customers were advised to have corrective or replacement work done on appliances and only about 100 have complied. The corrective work should be done as recommended and without too much delay, he added.

There were no accidents and no one was injured in the process of gas conversion. Bodoh said that customers in the majority have been cooperative and pleasant despite the necessary interruption of gas service.

Bodoh advised gas users to be as cautious in the use of gas appliances converted to propane as they were with the old water-gas. If a burner fails to light or goes out, turn it off and wait for the gas to disperse before attempting to relight it, Bodoh said.

Leo Dan Borman, Age 9, Wilson, Dies

Leo Daniel Borman, 9, of Wilson, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Borman, on Saturday at 9 p. m. after a year's illness.

Born Jan. 2, 1943, in Wilson, Leo was a 5th grade student at the Wilson school and a member of St. George's Church in Bark River.

He is survived by his parents, two sisters, Mrs. Gideon Sloan, Gladstone; Mrs. Don Hubbard, Stephenson; two brothers, Willard Borman, Wilson; Leslie Borman, Salvorian Seminary, St. Nazianz, Wis.; and his maternal grandfather, Caspar Kleiman, Wilson.

The body was removed from the Boyle funeral home in Bark River to the family home in Wilson last evening. The rosary will be recited at the home tonight at 8:30. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. at St. George's Church in Bark River. Burial will be in the family lot in the Bark River cemetery.

Hawk Uses Postoffice Roof As Nesting Place

The postoffice roof has been host for the past three weeks to a hen nighthawk who chose the gabled rooftop as a nesting spot to raise a pair of fledgling nighthawks.

The young birds were first noticed by postoffice employees about two weeks ago. The hen was seen sometime previously apparently looking the place over, making preparations for nesting.

No sign of the broken eggs was ever found on the roof and the nest was presumably a clump of sticks on the south side of the roof.

The rooftop birth is not unusual for nighthawks, according to game officials. The birds generally lay their eggs on bare rock or open fields and often on gravelled roof surfaces.

The protective mother hen, although not a vicious bird, will try to thwart any visitor on the roof from moving too close to her young ones. When visitors approach the nest she flies off about five feet from the fledglings and sets up a commotion to attract attention away from the young pair.

The young birds, which looked like puff balls a few days ago, had by last week almost completely replaced their down with a growth of feathers.

The hen is about eight inches from back to tail, has long pointed wings, and her underside is barred crosswise with white and black feathers. The nighthawk is a species closely allied in form and habits to the whippoorwill.

It flies and feeds by night, getting its food in flight. Its diet consists of insects, bugs and beetles which are also night fliers.

Game officials of the Conservation Department claim that nighthawks like to inhabit the city where the maze of electric lights attract the insects which they feed on.

The birds are a valuable ally of the agriculturalist, they say, and are sometimes protected from destruction.

On Saturday the fledglings left their rooftop birthplace and took to the sky.

Cruise Ships To Call Here Again

The popularity of Escanaba as a stopping point for Great Lakes cruises was evidenced today with announcement that the S. S. North American will make this city a port of call three times in September.

City Manager A. V. Aronson has received word from Harvey R. Dow, assistant to the vice president of the Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay Transit Company, to that effect.

The North American will dock at Escanaba at 9:30 a. m. Sept. 1; at 4:30 p. m. Sept. 3; and at 3 p. m. Sept. 15.

Earlier this summer Escanaba was port of call for three visits of the Transit Company's cruise ships.

"You can readily see that we truly like Escanaba and your hospitality," Dow wrote.

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce assists in supplying hospitable reception for the cruise guests.

Development Of Television Will Not Harm Newspaper Business

SOME of the crystal ball prophets are saying that the development of television on a broad scale throughout the country threatens the existence of the newspaper business.

Well, we're happy to report that we are undismayed by the competition.

They said the same thing when radio was in its infancy. The crystal ball prophets gloomily predicted that radio would crowd the newspaper business into limbo along with such relics as the ox cart and the dog sled.

Newspapers are better today than ever before and the radio competition is one reason why. Newspaper circulation is at an all time high and newspapers still hold the No. 1 rank in the contest for advertising dollars.

Newspapers have been and still are the world's No. 1 force for freedom and for good, clean government. By its very nature, the daily newspaper will always be the most important fountain of information and entertainment. In reporting life, from birth to burial, no other medium can touch it.

American newspapers have increased their total daily circulation more than 37% since 1940, while the population increased only 14%. Does that indicate that radio has hurt the newspaper business?

Radio has supplemented newspapers, and that's all. The radio, in fact, has helped ed to whet the public's appetite for news and since the newspaper is the best, most accurate and most complete medium for distribution of news, it is only logical and natural that newspapers have profited most from this increased public interest. We are confident that TV will further increase the public's appetite for news—and equally confident that newspapers will gain proportionately. Television will help to make newspapers better.

DeGaulle's Party Is Split Asunder

ONE of the healthiest developments in recent French politics has been the splitting asunder of General De Gaulle's People's Rally party.

A short time back about 55 of the 118 Gaullists broke away to support Premier Antoine Pinay's moderate government. In April, 25 of them had joined in giving Pinay the vote of confidence he needed to get started.

What precipitated the break of the 55 was a disciplinary move by the Gaullists against those who had backed Pinay in April. The dissidents have formed a new party, and presumably will continue their enlarged support of the present premier.

Normally it could hardly be counted an advantage that France had gained another new party. The multiplicity of splinter parties in that country has long been a contributing factor in the instability of French governments.

Because most of them are so small, they can only govern in coalition with others. A change of heart destroys the coalition, and the government topples.

But in this instance, the sizable defection from De Gaulle's party ranks serves actually to strengthen an existing coalition. It serves, indeed, to shore up the government that in many ways seems the most promising France has had since World War II ended.

More than that, the action throws into active political circulation 55 French deputies who heretofore have been cast in a sterile, do-nothing role by De Gaulle's policy of opposition to everything except his own near-sighted program.

With the De Gaullists, the Communists and most often the Socialists declining to join in constructive programming for France's future, it has been extraordinarily difficult to compose and sustain coalition governments.

Now we have 55 Gaullists who believe that country comes before party. Frenchmen who are less concerned with saving principle than with saving France.

THOUGHTLESS POLICE (Marinette Eagle Star)

A police officer can get thoughtless on occasions and set a bad example. The story is told about the Menominee officer moving along in the patrol car who crashed a red light and set the example for several drivers of Illinois cars that followed. Since the officer paid no attention to the stop light, the visitors didn't consider it necessary for them to observe the rules.

An incident of this nature does not happen frequently, but it illustrates the point that police, too, must observe the rules if they expect others to do so.

If the officer had been sounding his siren and had been on an emergency call, it would have been a different story. But such was not the case.

There's just one teacher that we're sure isn't underpaid—experience!

Merry-Go-Round

(Editor's Note—Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, top Democratic contender, gets the once-over today in Drew Pearson's series on the Democratic candidates.)

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—If you had told Estes Kefauver's colleagues in the Senate one year ago that he would emerge with the top number of delegates at the next Democratic convention, they would have snorted with disbelief. Some of them are still snorting.

This attitude, however, is solely confined to Washington and a few big cities where the political bosses had their machines bounced off the track by Kefauver's crime expose. In Washington, the attitude is based on something which is all-important in the nation's capital but not readily understood elsewhere—seniority. Young Estes Kefauver has been in Congress only 12 years. On the other hand, his colleague, McKellar of Tennessee, is 85 years old and has been in Congress for 35 years. And every time McKellar passes young Kefauver in a Senate corridor, he curses.

Other senators do not curse. But some of them are jealous. They do not realize that these are fast-moving days when the American people are fed up with the old, as witnessed by Eisenhower's nomination and by the sudden elevation of a political unknown, Nixon of California, to the No. 2 spot on the Republican ticket.

KEFAUVER'S RECORD

Perhaps also they don't entirely appreciate the fact that Kefauver has a magnificent voting record, has shown more courage in facing racial problems than any other Southern senator, and had the vision to realize the danger of permitting an underworld to gnaw at the foundation of America.

On top of this, he has gone through an intense political campaign, during which he hasn't made a single mistake. Eisenhower, on the other hand, has made several.

Kefauver, meanwhile, did Eisenhower the biggest political favor of his life. He is the chief reason Eisenhower was nominated. For the main factor motivating Republican delegates at their recent convention was that they badly needed a winner. And they knew, first from the Gallop Poll, second from their own political observations, that Kefauver could outpull Taft in most of the nation. To beat him they had to nominate Eisenhower.

For they had seen Kefauver defeat President Truman himself, plus an old and established Democratic machine in New Hampshire. They also saw him swamp the Democratic organization in Ohio, even with a bunch of unknown delegates; while in California they saw him roll up a vote bigger than Governor Earl Warren. Again he did it by bucking the old-line leaders of the Democratic party using a baitball assortment of young and enthusiastic amateurs that nobody had ever heard of.

In many respects, the novices who rolled up the votes for Kefauver out in the sticks, were like the novices who rallied behind Eisenhower in the same areas.

And Republican delegates, led by the shrewd nonamateur, Tom Dewey, sensed the need for a change plus the danger of being defeated by Kefauver.

KEFAUVER'S CRIME

After Estes Kefauver first started his New Hampshire campaign, he remarked to one of his advisers:

"I'm tired of talking about crime. I think I should make some speeches on foreign policy."

"Stick to crime, Estes, stick to crime," replied the adviser, "That's what the people understand."

However, Estes has not stuck to crime, either in his subsequent speeches or in his earlier records in Congress. That record is one which shows up well under the most critical microscope. Though a Southerner, Kefauver voted for the controversial anti-lynching bill. He also voted to abolish the poll tax, though he did not vote for cloture or a compulsory FEPC. He voted against the Taft-Hartley act, at a time when it took courage to do so—unlike Sen. Russell who voted to override the presidential veto but now says Taft-Hartley should be abolished. He has also campaigned against the monopoly of war contracts to a few big companies and led an investigation to aid small business. He had the courage to circulate a petition in the House to get the Taft-Wagner housing bill out of the rules committee, and finally helped to get it passed.

He has been a leader in backing the President on foreign affairs and defense. And while a member of the House of Representatives, he wrote a book "The 20th Century Congress," carefully diagnosing our current legislative system.

NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—This news will be greeted with snorts of disapproval by all honest race horses, but it must be told anyway. Sooner or later, say electronics experts, an electronic brain will be perfected which will predict the outcome of horse races.

Before you go out and bet two on the tube, be warned that this delightful gadget may be a long time in coming. The Age of Electronic Brains, in which horse-race-predicting-machines will abound, is not yet here. And it may take decades to arrive, but arrive it will.

"Electronic brain" is the popular phrase for a device known as a computer. As its name implies, this machine doesn't actually do any thinking. It merely computes data that human beings feed it. Some of them work from figures (digital computers) and some work from "things" (analog computers).

It is the analog computer that may be developed into a high-voltage handicapper. Currently (get that one?) analog computers work on more serious problems. For example, they may predict the flight of a guided missile. Humans give it the information—such as the weight of the test missile, wind conditions, fuel consumption and so on—and the computer records on a graph the predicted flight pattern.

Instead of missile flight factors, suppose you gave an analog computer such information as the condition of the track, the past performances of the horses, the weight of the jockey. Could a machine be perfected which would figure out the winner?

"It is not inconceivable," says Rawley McCoy, chief engineer of the Reeves Electronic Division of Claude Neon, Inc., who has worked on the guided missile computer. "It's a problem of working out the right equations to give the machine. If somebody wanted to spend enough time, it could be done."

From that point, you can proceed on many flights of fancy—fancy that could logically someday be fact. Why couldn't analog computers be devised which would predict the weather accurately, give you tips on the stock market, say what team would win the pennant, tell you what crops to plant each year, figure out exactly how much weight you'd gain (or lose) on a certain diet?

There's no reason why not. All these—and anything else your imagination can dream up—are entirely within the realm of possibility. It's strictly a question of assembling the necessary information, getting a skilled mathematician to work out the proper equations, and having someone who could evaluate the result.

The digital computers, dealing with figures, offer a more immediate practical future. Philip S. Fogg, president of the Consolidated Engineering Corp., says that one digital computer could replace 300 employees in a bank, for instance, or the entire billing department of a department store.

"Before long," he says, "electric impulses may be keeping track of your bank balance, your gas and electric bill, how much you owe the department store and the insurance company, as well as all the behind-the-scenes figuring on inventory and stock control, payrolls with numerous deductions, tax computation and general business statistics."

"It's time to admit the vacuum tube is mightier than the finger," Present electronic brains are pretty big machines. Fogg's company makes one about the size of a grand piano, one of the smallest available. But in laboratories and on drawing boards, engineers are working up computers much smaller. McCoy says that it won't be long before portable computers, about the size of a big tape recorder, will be on the market.

Navigation, right in commercial airplanes. When the price and size are right, computers will take the guesswork out of navigation. This will add to airline safety. There'll be no more bumping into unexpected mountains.

Trembley said the commission, working with fisheries biologists of the U. S. Wildlife Service, will make surveys later this summer among commercial fishermen in the Chesapeake to find out how many of the tagged adult shad survive.

"This will be some barometer of the program," he said.

Special Fishways If the shad taxis prove too expensive or unworkable, the only other way of getting the fish up past the dams is the construction of special fishways—mechanical devices which permit the shad to climb over or around the dams.

Two fishways constructed at the Holtwood Dam prior to 1915 proved unsuccessful. Newer types, such as used for salmon on the Columbia River, may cost more than the shad program is worth, French added.

Temperature Must Be Right "The temperature of the water where the fish are netted, in the tank trucks and at the destination must all correspond or the fish will die," he said.

Gordon L. Trembley, chief aquatic biologist for the commission, explained that the taxi system is an extremely delicate operation.

So far, there have been reports that some of the 4,000 tagged fish used in the experiment already have been found downstream

AGATES FOR THE KIDS—Back from vacation to find an accumulation of mail, including a note from Werner Vietzke of Rapid River, mineralogist and collector.

The Daily Press some time ago presented a picture of Werner with a large agate and his note gives additional information concerning this semi-precious stone offered used for ring settings.

"Kids' marbles are never made of agate but of slag, the nearest approach to volcanic glass, which is called obsidian. They are products of ceramic art," Werner writes.

"A few months ago I read about a kid who had a set of genuine agate marbles. There is a lot of material wasted in cutting small spheres, such as marbles," he continues.

The cost of the agate stone itself is 50 cents to $2 depending on its quality, and about five hours work is required at a labor cost of at least $5 per marble. Some agate is worth up to $20 per ounce!

"So you see, kids seldom have genuine agate marbles unless they live in Buckingham palace or in the home of a rich man," Werner concludes.

THE RICH BOOTBLACK—Charlie Folio of Escanaba, supervisor of extension service in the Upper Peninsula for the University of Michigan, was recently in Bloomington, Ind., for a National University Extension Association meeting.

Returning to Ann Arbor he picked up the Detroit Free Press to encounter in Mark Beltaire's "Town Crier" column an item of interest to Escanaba readers. Perhaps you saw it, but if not here it is:

"Pair of businessmen on the Bay City Chamber of Commerce cruise wore red faces for a brief moment in Escanaba. They walked up to a 10-year-old ragamuffin and told him: 'We're broke and hungry. Could you give us something so we can buy a sandwich?' To their great embarrassment the boy reached in his pocket and brought out a collection of change that amounted to 20 cents. Bob Mulvogue reports. The contrite cruiser took the lad under their wing, bought him some new clothes, and left him with a purse considerably in excess of 20 cents. Talk about casting bread upon the waters!"

So ends the story, and no doubt the local social welfare people and the children's aid workers will be interested in knowing that Escanaba has at least one under-privileged "ragamuffin."

GETTING THE VAPORS—In his letter from Ann Arbor accompanying the clipping describing the "ragamuffin" incident, Folio also tells of the heat wave in Indiana where he attended the N. U. E. A. conference.

"The temperature ranged up to 99 in the shade while we were there and I would not sleep—so I sat outdoors on a bench on the lawn of Indiana University Union building the better part of several nights."

"In the extreme heat my car developed a 'malady' which is known as 'vapor lock.' The car would get so hot that the gasoline pump refused to function and the motor would not turn."

"Mechanics told us to put a grapefruit over the fuel pump but we could not buy a grapefruit anywhere. At last we put a wet cloth over it and that did the trick."

Folio reported. "But having your car stop dead in heavy traffic in Indianapolis with the sun boiling you at 110 degrees is no fun."

He was glad to get back into "cool" Michigan, where the temperature in Ann Arbor only touched 90 and 95 degrees.

PUERTO RICO'S BARNUM—Among other mail at hand is a note from the Rev. Karl J. Hammar, pastor of Central Methodist Church, Escanaba, whose guests at the Hammar cabin, "Wasa Wasa," on the Escanaba River near Cornell, included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Olson, Mrs. Gladys Rusdahl—and Jim Harrington.

Harrington left Milwaukee a dozen years ago but he came back for a vacation and found that he had become a celebrity, for he is running his own circus in Puerto Rico.

The Milwaukee Sentinel told Harrington's story with pictures and described his circus—Gran Circo Americano—as the only one in Puerto Rico. It enjoys considerable popularity there, in South America and the islands of the West Indies.

Harrington, now 31, went to work for Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey circus as an usher and ticket seller in 1941. With some expert training from the aerial performers he learned an aerial routine that later made him one of the stars of his own circus.

A couple years later he became flight purser for Pan-American World Airways, learned Spanish and met another American, Jerry Wilson, with whom he teamed in starting the Great American Circus in 1946. Both performed as aerial stars until a couple years ago.

Now Harrington is "grounded" by management of his circus and came to Escanaba with Milwaukee friends. They left Friday after several days vacation at the Hammar cabin.

COMPARATIVE DEGREES OF FAME

"I notice," wrote a correspondent, "that a certain literary magazine uses the following terms concerning various authors: eminent, distinguished, popular, famous, celebrated, and noted." And he wanted to know which has the greatest significance.

They all mean widely known, but there are certain strong differences. An eminent writer, for instance, may not be at all popular, nor is he necessarily famous. If he is eminent, we mean that he has attained great merit in his field, is known to have outstanding ability by his fellows in that field, though perhaps unknown outside it. But eminence is a lasting quality; its only superior is the emphatic pre-eminence. There is no higher praise to an author than to call him eminent.

Injury Invites Painful Bursitis; Complete Rest Is Important

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

The number of people who inquire concerning bursitis raises the question as to whether this painful disorder is increasing in frequency.

Perhaps no one can answer this question, but certainly a great number of people are suffering with it and are eager for information about it—particularly for any information which will lead to bringing their relief.

First, what is bursitis, and how does it differ from arthritis? But here questions which many people want answered.

Bursitis is inflammation of the lining of those small pockets or spaces which lie near the joints, and there are many of them. Arthritis, on the other hand, is an inflammation of the lining of the joints' tissues.

One form of bursitis is fairly frequent—near the elbow, it commonly goes under the name of "tennis elbow." This appears to be the result of a sort of injury to the bursa from overuse.

"Housemaid's knee" is another form of bursitis. The bursa involved lies just back of the kneecap and is also usually the result of injury or overuse. And as the name implies, it is comparatively common among those who must be on their knees a good portion of the time.

There are bursas in other places—all of which have perfectly proper scientific names and any of them can become inflamed.

As in the two forms mentioned, the most common cause of bursitis is injury—either by repeated small injuries or from one big one.

It is not unusual for bursitis to start suddenly with a good deal of pain and discomfort, as any one who has had it can testify. Frequently the bursa contains fluid, the area around it is tender, and motion around it produces a good deal of pain. Sometimes calcium is deposited in the bursa.

Bursitis is often easier to avoid than to cure. However, what to do for it once it has started is a real problem. When acutely inflamed, rest is particularly important and in order to make this as complete as necessary, a cast, splint or bandage is often used. Heat sometimes relieves some of the pain and tenderness.

MAY DRAW FLUID OFF

Part of the pain may be the result of pressure from fluid, and consequently the doctor may want to draw some of this off through a needle.

Some extremely interesting results by spraying the skin with ethyl chloride have been reported by a New York physician, and there are other treatments which may be worth trying.

The acute phase of the bursitis subsides eventually but too often it turns into a chronic condition. This is distressing because a chronic bursitis is highly resistant to treatment. Deep X-ray helps some; injection into the bursa of various fluids may help others.

In resistant cases it may even be necessary to operate and remove most of the inflamed lining. Fortunately, the really bad cases of chronic bursitis are not too common and most recover without radical treatment.

Ruark Upset By Party Wrangles

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—It has been called "the great game of politics" in the past, and so I suppose it still is, but it seems to me we are tending to look less favorably on the sportive aspects of it, with a view to demanding less cute tricks and more worth for our money.

We deal today in the lives of Americans and in the lives of the world when we stage the machinery of election, but this you would not believe to watch it. After the monkeyshines of the Republican shindig, and the muttered promise of the Democrats to row among themselves, you would think that American politics today is more a game of beggar-your-nearest-neighbor than a serious determination of tomorrow's life.

Delegate-stealing and delegate-riding, or accusations of it, may fit awfully well into the horse-and-buggy bickering of grandpa's time. The all-out, give-'em-hell, party-first-and-people-later tricks of a grimy old trade must have been awfully amusing once upon a time. It probably still is amusing if you are electing aldermen or sheriffs, and if your prime consideration is the appointment to a second-class postoffice.

Bartered Delegates
All the hooting and hollering, more befitting a troupe of drunken conventioners off to raise a ruckus and pinch the girls, might once have been regarded as good, earthy carnival, and part of the American way. 'Tain't funny any more. It's just dull, and sort of sad, like an old Legionaire with delusions of 1918.

Nor does the business of the handful of bosses, with the reins on the delegates, driving the show seem very appealing any more. It is boiled to where a handful of men have controlled the vote, and the vote may very well be contrary to what the voters want. It may be exciting to barter delegates back and forth like cows, for value received, but the laughter out front is hollow.

In my short span national elections have changed greatly. Once upon a time the expense of running the country was nearly nil, in today terms. I can recall Franklin Roosevelt being severely criticized for a 10-billion-dollar budget. Elections were run almost purely on the spoils basis. Didn't make a great deal of difference who got in, so long as they kicked out the incumbents and administered the patronage to the loyal constituents and party friends. It bred the curious kind of party loyalty that has marked Harry Truman's devotion to the late vice king, Tom Pendergast, and to some of his other, more recently tawdry cronies.

World Responsibility
But the man who gets the job today, and the men he takes along to help him, are something more than the old-style politicians whose main task is keeping the home folks happy and dishing out the ripe jobs for the hard workers and their families. The boy who comes aboard today wears the weight of the world—literally—on his bowed neck.

His is the responsibility of the atom, of global and domestic bankruptcy, of evasion of a war that could simmer us all down to lava dust. His is the supervision of the spending of our mammoth taxes, taxes so huge that even the phony prosperity of the day is not enough to keep the ends met. His is the control of the inflation which has nearly wrecked us. Yet, they use the hoary methods of competing for this job as if it were some gewgaw, some beauty contest or hog judging at a county fair. The eventual aim may be higher, once the winner is in office, but the able and dignified Mr. Taft's cohorts acted more like horse thieves than statesmen, and

Birthdays

Hazel Mae Forhart celebrated her fourth birthday at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ossie Hazen, Tuesday afternoon, with several little friends, who played games until lunch time when they enjoyed the special pretty cake, and presented numerous gifts.

Cheryl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Richard, enjoyed games with her cousins, Judy, the process of the Republican convention seemed rather like a bar-room brawl.

The nomination of Gen. Eisenhower, out of popular indignation at old-style, rough-and-tumble political procedure, will tell me that the people, if not the politicians, are ready for a redrafting of our electoral process. We are not throwing box lunches for the third war any more; we are architecting international well-being. Whatever it is, it sure ain't sport.

Liquor Sales Take Big Drop In Michigan

LANSING—Liquor sales in Michigan fell off $3,593,788 or 2.51 per cent in the past fiscal year, the state liquor control commission reported.

Case sales were down 393,435 or 10.22 per cent, the commission said, but the higher price of liquors offset partially the dollar decline.

In June, the final month of the fiscal year, sales fell 3.55 per cent, with the bulk of the sales loss in gins and wines. Whiskey sales were down 1.24 per cent.

In the past month, the commission's inventory shrank 24.1 per cent, nearly all of it in whiskey stocks.

Labor Leaders Oppose Barkley

By NORMAN WALKER

CHICAGO — (AP)—Labor union chiefs plugged hard today to have the Democratic national convention choose a New Deal-type presidential ticket and platform.

Leaders of both the AFL and CIO have turned thumbs down on three of the candidates, Vice President Alben W. Barkley and Sens. Richard Russell of Georgia and Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma.

The AFL and CIO men handling the political maneuvers for their labor groups have endorsed none of the other candidates. But they made it clear that either Averell Harriman, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee or Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois is the man they want.

They are all-out, too, for President Truman if the name of the Chief Executive—who has said he won't run again—should come before the convention.

Pledges Not Kept

In trying to put over what they regard as a liberal party stand on candidates and platform, the AFL and CIO sent representatives before the convention's platform-drafting committee today to present their views.

Both unions complained bitterly that past party pledges have failed to be carried out by Democratic administrations.

And both called for drastic party steps to stop Dixie Democrats in Congress from siding with Republicans to block bills the labor unions want enacted. One such piece of delivery by AFL President William Green, Secretary-Treasurer George Meany and other AFL leaders—called on Democrats to kick such Southern congressmen out of the party if they continue their voting coalition with the GOP.

On this the AFL said: "When an officeholder elected as a Democrat consistently consorts with the Republicans, votes with the Republicans and aids and abets congressional action intended to embarrass his own party, then he should either get out of the Democratic party or be read out."

Oppose T-H Act

The CIO didn't go that far. But it issued a statement that the American people may abandon the party if it "fails to reaffirm the Roosevelt-Truman New Deal and Fair Deal policies."

The union leaders asked the platform committee to come out for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act, and to favor civil rights legislation, broadened social security laws, higher minimum wages, tighter inflation controls, and other long-time union objectives.

Flowers are open at the time of day or night when the insects they wish to attract are abroad.

Library Exhibits Driftwood Sculpture

Driftwood sculpture, inspired by the driftwood tossed up on the beaches in this area, created by Reed Schlade-man, display director at the Fair in Chicago, will be on exhibit at the Carnegie Public Library, Monday through Thursday.

Schlade-man has been vacationing with his family at Brother-ton's Resort. They started gathering the many different shaped pieces of driftwood without any definite purpose until Schlade-man realized the line and color of the wood had sculpturing possibilities. With the only materials he had, wire from coat hangers, Schlade-man has fashioned many modern figures.

Next Move Not Sure In 50-Day Steel Shutdown

out of 600,000 steelworkers. But a four-hour meeting ended with this statement from the industry:

Union Shop Issue
"The chief stumbling block x x x continues to be the question of compulsory unionism. There are no further meetings scheduled."

Said Murray:
"There isn't much that we have to say except that we have met. The issues have not as yet been resolved."

The crux of the dispute is the union shop. Industry wants a "watered-down" version of the union shop which was made part of a separate strike-ending agreement with Pittsburgh Steel Corp.

This calls for new employees to join the union but allows them to withdraw between the 20th and 30th day of employment. Murray wants new employees to join the union but is agreeable to allow present steelworkers who are not in the union to stay out if they so desire.

In agreeing to make another joint peace effort both sides yielded to pressure from the White House that lack of steel is having an increasingly grave effect on the nation's defense program.

Abduction Story Is Branded False

GAYLORD, Mich. — (AP)—The state police have listed a newspaperman's abduction story as a false report and will conduct no further investigation.

Sgt. Harold W. Moore made the announcement Saturday after he had talked with Miss Dorothy Lingemann, 28, city editor of the weekly Otsego County Herald Times. Moore did not amplify.

Miss Lingemann, absent from her home for nearly 48 hours, had reported she was abducted by a hitchhiker.

State Contributed $1,356,017 For Polio

LANSING — (AP)—Michigan residents contributed a new high of $1,356,017 to the March of Dimes this year, Paul D. Bagwell, chairman of the state drive, said today.

Audited figures on the Michigan contributions to fight polio were received from the New York office of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The 1952 contribution compared to $902,000 raised last year and $881,000 contributed the previous year.

Almost 11 per cent of the entire area of the United States is underlain with coal.

Reds Increase Korean Power

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark says the Reds have doubled their air-ground strength in Korea during the truce talks but could not sustain a major offensive for more than two or three weeks. The United Nations commander reasoned:

1. The Communists have plenty of supplies but are incapable of moving them in the face of U. N. air attacks.

2. The Allies—without increasing their numerical strength during the past year—have been trained intensively and improved their defenses from front to rear to meet any eventuality.

"The enemy buildup has been quantitative while ours has, for the most part, been qualitative," Clark said. "We are confident that we can make any future enemy offensive the most costly he has yet undertaken."

The Far East commander, in a copyrighted interview, in U. S. News & World Report, a weekly news magazine, said the Communists since June 1, 1950 have swelled their ground strength from half a million to nearly one million men and their air power from 1,000 to 2,000 planes. Half the planes, he added, are estimated to be jets.

South Koreans Trained

One of the principal jobs of the Allies in the past year, Clark said, has been to pull South Korean units out of the line and train them intensively. Now, he said, "They are hard-hitting, efficient divisions."

Clark said it was important to match the Reds' armed might because "added military strength gives them increased confidence in their ability to dominate conferences and negotiations."

Clark said a current step-up in frontline action has been due largely to increased U. N. probing to learn the dispositions and intentions of the enemy.

The commander declined to forecast the outcome of the truce negotiations but said, "I would caution against any feelings of undue optimism."

Clark said the Allies consider the prisoner-of-war repatriation issue to be the main remaining stumbling block to an agreement.

Bombings Necessary

If the prisoner of war disagreement is settled, Clark said, the negotiators will have to re-examine the problem of a military demarcation line and a militarized zone. The original agreement was good only if a pact was reached within 30 days. That period expired Dec. 27, 1951.

Clark said the bombings of power plants in North Korea along the Manchurian border were dictated purely by military necessity—they were helping the Red war effort.

The U. N. commander denied reports that he had acted outside his authority in ordering a recent walkout of U. N. negotiators at Panmunjom.

Kaiser Workers Get 20¢ Wage Boost

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Approximately 5,000 workers at four Kaiser Aluminum Co. plants will be affected by a contract agreement reached last night between the CIO Steelworkers and the company. A 20 cents an hour wage hike is provided.

Kaiser said the agreement provides 16 cents an hour retroactive to last Jan. 1, plus improvements in shift differential and in health and social insurance programs. Plants in Spokane and Tacoma, Wash., Newark, O., and Hales-thorpe, Md., are affected.

Wall Street

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK — (AP)—Wall Street sat down in front of a television set today and watched the Democratic National convention.

The stock market as a consequence was unusually quiet and prices moved over a narrow range. Biggest changes were around a point eight way, but the great bulk of the list was up or down small fractions with many leaders unchanged.

Steels moved only an eighth or so higher or lower, showing little concern over the breakdown yesterday in talks between the CIO Steelworkers and industry representatives.

Utilities were helped ahead by Western Union which gained better than a point. In the railroad section Santa Fe lost around a point and helped keep the division in the mixed column.

High stocks included U. S. Steel, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, American Smelting and Union Pacific.

Lower were U. S. Rubber, Kennecott Copper, Union Carbide, Philip Morris, Nickel Plate and Gulf Oil.

The curb as a whole was steady. Higher stocks included Hazeltine, Seeman Bros., and Calgary & Edmonton while on the downside were Aro Equipment, Creole Petroleum and Oklahoma Natural Gas.

Corporate Bonds were steady and quiet, as were U. S. Government bonds in the over the counter market.

Governor Gives Warm Welcome To Democrats

its caucus without endorsing any candidate.

This strategy apparently was aimed at having its Stevenson votes handy for use if and when a draft developed for the governor.

Rep. Sidney Yates of Illinois predicted Stevenson, who had 42 delegates listed for him in the latest Associated Press tabulation, would receive 100 votes on the first ballot.

But some administration officials on the convention scene said that, since President Truman could not interest the governor in the nomination earlier, he might use his influence to stop a Stephenson draft.

Stevenson discussed policies in his prepared address. He recalled that the "New Deal" was launched in Chicago at the 1932 convention. "You commenced the greatest era of economic and social progress in our history with the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt," he said.

Then he offered this version of the Republican convention:

"For almost a week pompous phrases marched over this landscape in search of an idea, and the only idea they found was that the two decades of progress in peace, victory in war and bold leadership in this anxious hour, were the misbegotten spawn of bungling, corruption, socialism, mismanagement and worse."

"They captured, tied and dragged that idea in here and furiously beat it to death."

"After listening to our misdeeds for a while I was surprised the next morning when the mail was delivered on time. Our friends were out of patience, out of sorts and—need I add?—out of office."

24-HOUR TRUCE

CONVENTION Hall, Chicago — (AP)—The Democratic national convention slammed a 24 hour armistice on its old North-South family battle today as it met to choose its standard bearer in this fall's presidential election.

For the first time in years, the Democratic convention was wide open—there wasn't a candidate within shouting distance of the party's ticket-leading nomination.

A sectional split over civil rights and the seating of Texas and Mississippi delegations that want to be free to take a walk threatened to overshadow momentarily the jockeying of a flock of presidential candidates. But it was put on ice until tomorrow.

Out of the wide-ranging field of candidates there emerged at least one man with a convention strategy plan—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Winner of most of the Democratic primaries and self-styled peoples' choice for the nomination, Kefauver appeared ready to shoot the political war on an effort to win the nomination by the fourth ballot.

Kefauver Still Predicted

If his self-propelled bandwagon stalls—as many in opposing camps were predicting it would—the top runners for No. 1 place on the ticket seemed to be 74-year-old Vice President Barkley and reluctant Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, a Kefauver supporter, said in a prepared speech that Republicans from Eisenhower on down must share any blame that attaches to the Korean conflict.

Noting that the Republican platform criticized the withdrawal of American troops from Korea before fighting broke out there, Douglas said the Joint Chiefs of Staff reported in 1947 that Korea had little strategic value to the United States.

"Now, who do you suppose was chief of staff of the Army when this military advice was given?" he asked. "It was Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Truman Influence Potent

As to the other candidates, Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, W. Averell Harriman of New York and Sen. Robert A. Kerr of Oklahoma remained only outside possibilities for the nomination.

A dozen "favorite sons" and others mentioned in lobby gossip as possibilities hung around waiting for a possible stroke of lightning.

President Truman could turn loose some bolts of undetermined power. He kept his preference for the nominee secret even from his cabinet members, although Thomas J. Gavin of Kansas City, his convention alternate, professed to know. Gavin wasn't talking.

The feeling here seemed to be that Truman is biding his time, putting on pressure to get the kind of "fair deal" platform he wants and putting off making up his mind finally until the situation shakes down somewhat.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, a favored cabinet member, told a reporter he thinks the word from Truman would influence at least a third of the convention delegates.

As Brannan doped it out, delegate support is so divided now that no two candidates could join forces and command the 616 votes needed for nomination.

Governors Asked To Present Ideas On Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The 25 Republican governors who played such a prominent role in the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower as the GOP presidential nominee have been asked for ideas to strengthen bi-partisan foreign policy.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) said he had written them for constructive help because the governors are "one of the greatest sources for the further youthful revitalization of the Republican party."

The ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Wiley would head the group if the GOP got a majority in the Senate.

He said the Democrats have begun "foul blow attacks" on the sincerity of the Eisenhower program and have made "smear attacks" on the Republican party. This, Wiley said, will weaken the hand of those who are trying to keep foreign policy discussions on the highest possible level.

Detroit Survives Lightning Strike

DETROIT — (AP)—How does it feel to get hit by lightning? Ask Joe Feild. He's alive today to tell about it.

"I felt like the whole world fell on me," said Joe who was carrying picnic gear to a car during a thunderstorm when the bolt clouted him.

"When I came to I was under a tree," he said. "Felt numb and like I was swimming through water. I was paralyzed from the waist down and couldn't feel anything in my right arm."

Doctors at Receiving Hospital said he was the first person they knew who had survived a direct hit.

It charred his undershirt, melted his belt buckle and welded his pants zipper.

As for Joe himself, he's fine and resting at home.

Earthquake Hits California, Town May Be Wiped Out

cepted to the city.

At California Institute of Technology, seismologists gave the first clue to the center of the quake, felt over most of a vast area with a rolling motion.

Cal Tech rated its intensity at 7-1/2 on a scale of eight, compared with 6-1/4 for the Long Beach quake which killed scores near here in 1933. The San Francisco quake of 1906, one of the worst on record, rated 8-1/4 on that scale.

Millions of Californians were awakened by the first shock, felt here at 4:52 a. m. (Pacific daylight time). Its intensity here, 120 miles away from the center, could be gauged by the fact that dawn's light disclosed cracks in buildings and showered plaster.

The rolling motion, in contrast to the wrenching jar which accompanies some quakes, was credited with minor damage in the heavily populated metropolitan Los Angeles area.

The first shake lasted for nearly three minutes in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles hotel lobbies were crowded by residents in their night clothes. Lights sprang up in houses up and down every block. Dogs howled in fear and at Redondo Beach Mrs. Eleanor Howell said she was awakened by a dog, running outside the house with a wailing cry, only a moment before the quake hit.

Residents of the San Fernando valley, home of many movie stars, reported the quake sloshed water out of their swimming pools. Broken dishes and cracked windows were common in a band from here to a point north of Fresno, and extended to Santa Barbara on the coast.

Power Lines Down

The southern section of the San Joaquin valley, such cities as Bakersfield, Tulare and Visalia, all rated the quake as heavy.

Santa Barbara, hit by a severe quake in 1925, got a good rocking again today. Plate glass windows in the downtown area were broken and power lines went down. Residents streamed in fright from homes and hotels.

Los Angeles police reported that many power lines were down and switchboards were flooded with reports of minor damage. Burglar alarms throughout the Los Angeles area were set off.

The quake was felt throughout California although in the northern section of the state it was lighter.

At Bakersfield, police said the quake "rocked the devil" out the Bakersfield Inn. Walls were buckled on the two-story Studebaker building and dozens of neon signs and plate glass windows were destroyed along 20 blocks of Chester Street.

There was no report of any major damage in Long Beach, scene of the disastrous 1933 quake.

Police Disbelieve Armed Men's Story

Foundations Will Stress Beauty

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

To get your travel wardrobe off to a good start, it is important that you give some thought to the foundation garments you will wear. For it isn't so much what you wear, but how you wear it that keeps you looking and feeling well-dressed, no matter where you go.

The basic foundation requisites are two girdles, one pantie girdle, corselet, wristlet and five bras. Of course, your own individual figure requirements will influence your choices. For example, if your figure is full, you will most likely want more corselets. If you are a junior, however, two panties girdles and one girdle will probably fill the bill.

For the suit with a snugly fitted jacket, wear a high-waisted girdle to keep your midriff under control. The new torso-fitted midriff demand hip control, and a waist-high girdle will give it.

Since full-skirted styles continue to hold their own, a waistlet of some type is a necessity. The narrow cinch may be worn over your regular girdle to pull in your waistline.

As for brassieres, take along two in white or pink, one in black or navy to wear under dark suits and dresses, and one long-line garment and a strapless bra to be worn with strapless and scooped-out necklines.

Another good supplement to your bra wardrobe is the sun bra of pique or denim to wear with shorts and slacks. Your foundations assure a lovely figure regardless of the occasion or costume.

Summer Styles Reveal Posture

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Since school days will soon be a thing of the past — for a few months anyway — you should be giving some serious thought to your posture.

How will you look in a bathing suit? Are your shoulders rounded or on a slant? Will your sunback dresses reveal a bent and weary pose? Better take inventory now, or you may find yourself a leading contender for the title of "1952 Wallflower of the Beach."

Many posture mistakes are really nothing more than carrying your books or handbag on the same side of your body month after month. The weight of these objects can't help but pull you down. You should get into the habit of switching them from one side to the other. This applies to your telephone arm, too.

When you sit at home or at school, it's possible that you curl up like a kitten, giving little hought to the fact that your body was never made for such contortions. It's best to concentrate on sitting up straight when you practice posture perfection. It is absolutely essential for a lovely figure.

Of course, you won't want to overlook exercise, either. The old favorite of walking around the room with a book on your head is still good. Just be sure you don't get your figure completely out of line in your effort to keep the book from sliding.

Today's Recipes

Grape Frost
Ingredients: 9 small bottles grape soda, 1 egg white, 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar, 3/4 teaspoon lemon juice, 1/8 teaspoon grated orange rind.
Method: Empty 3 bottles of the grape soda into freezing tray of refrigerator; freeze. Chill remaining 6 bottles of grape soda. Before serving whip egg white; beat in sugar, lemon juice, and orange rind. Now shave or crack frozen grape carbonated beverage and place in tall glasses. Put 1 tablespoon of the whipped egg white into each glass, then slowly fill with the chilled grape soda. Makes 6 servings.

Special Grilled Cheese Sandwiches
Ingredients: One 3-ounce package sharp natural cheddar cheese, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons broken pecan nuts, 1 canned drained pimiento, 8 slices bread 2 1/2 tablespoons butter or margarine.
Method: Have cheese at room temperature and put in mixing bowl; beat in mayonnaise with spoon until well combined. Add pecans. Cut pimiento into mixture in small pieces; mix well. Make 4 sandwiches of bread and cheese filling using about 2 tablespoons of mixture for each sandwich. Melt half the butter in a large skillet and grill one side of sandwiches in it; add remaining butter and turn sandwiches to grill other side. Cut each sandwich in 4 triangles and serve at once.

Curried Chicken and Peas
Ingredients: 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons curry powder, 1-8 teaspoon sugar, 2 cups chicken broth, 2 tablespoons tomato paste, salt (to taste), 2 cups dried chick-peas (well-packed and cut medium-fine), 2-3 to 1 cup cooked drained peas.
Method: Melt butter in heavy saucepan over low heat; add flour, curry powder, and sugar; stir until blended. Remove from heat. Add chicken broth gradually, stirring until smooth after each addition; stir in tomato paste and salt. Cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened and bubbly; cook gently, stirring often, until sauce thickens a little more—5 to 10 minutes. Add chicken and peas and reheat. Makes 4 servings.

Teens Busy On Wedding Day
BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

So you're going to be a bridesmaid. You've suddenly been caught up in a rush of excitement that leaves little time for all the things you have to accomplish in your teen-age life.

If this is your first appearance as a member of a wedding party you'd better be prepared to include dress fittings, rehearsals and many shopping expeditions in your already busy schedule.

But in all the hustle and bustle don't forget to make your own personal grooming plans. Such an important occasion certainly calls for a special make-up and hair-do.

Once your dress has been chosen you will be in a better position to decide about your make-up. If it is a fragile pastel, keep your make-up in approximately the same tone. But no matter what the color, always be careful to try for a subtle effect.

The neckline of your dress should influence the hair style you pick for the wedding. For instance, if it is off the shoulder, consider wearing your hair long and full. Just the opposite is true if the dress has a high rounded collar. Then you will want your hair off your neck, in whatever style is, of course, most flattering for you.

Discuss hair styles and make-up with the other bridesmaids and the prospective bride. Find out what each one's plans are, so that you will all be in complete accord. And remember, the bride must always be the center of attraction. It is the job of the bridesmaids to complement and point up her beauty.

Mrs. John H. Root Re-Elected President Of Diocesan Council

Mrs. John H. Root of Escanaba was re-elected president of the Marquette Diocesan Council of Catholic Women at the 4th annual convention held here Saturday in conjunction with the regional Laywoman's Retreat Movement conference.

Mrs. David Ripley of Sault Ste. Marie was re-elected corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Russell Greenleaf of Houghton was named treasurer to succeed Mrs. N. F. Kaiser, also of Houghton.

Other officers are appointive. Mrs. Root presided at the general session Saturday afternoon. Reports were given by Mrs. Nathan Frenn, Bark River, Miss Nell Fleming, Nahma, Mrs. David Ripley, Sault Ste. Marie, Mrs. N. F. Kaiser, Houghton, Mrs. Alex Bourdeau, Mrs. Corbin Eddy, Miss Irma Perkins, Mrs. J. H. Niver and Mrs. Stack Smith, Escanaba, Mrs. R. C. Mahon, Iron River, and Mrs. Thomas Beaton, Escanaba.

Welcome To Members
The Rt. Rev. Thomas L. Noa, D.D., Bishop of Marquette, in his welcome to the Diocesan members, traced the history of Marygrove and the development of the retreat movement within the diocese, and commended highly those directly concerned with its advancement.

"I exhort all to pray for an increase of faith and love in their personal relations with God," he said. "May all of us be ever mindful of the great law of prayer. Our Lord has placed prayer as a condition for receiving His gifts and graces, for ourselves and for others. Ask and you shall receive" is the infallible promise of God; here is the basis of unfailing power of prayer. Moreover, prayer is the greatest source of increase of the knowledge of God.

"In our prayers," he concluded, "we must ask always that the force and power of the love of neighbor will prevail in our relations one with another. We need always to practice patience, forbearance, sympathy, understanding and mutual helpfulness in our work. We are carrying out an apostolate for the purpose of bringing to others a sharing in the divine life. Hand in hand with this sharing of God's life goes sharing of life with one another, with God and under God. On this depends the whole law of the Kingdom of God."

Bishop Wright, Speaker
In a brilliant address the Most Rev. John J. Wright, D.D., Bishop of Worcester, Mass., compared modern days with the time of St. Alexis, stating that somewhere there must be a great leader comparable to Alexis and capable of leading the world from the chaos and confusion that exists today.

Communism has gained its foothold not through the man who toils, he said, but through the smug intellectual who has lost all sense of reasoning. The salvation of the world is in the hands of men who will use their power for good, in love of neighbor rather than love of self.

D. A. V. Family Picnic Held Sunday At Pine Forest

Escanaba Chapter 24, Disabled American Veterans and Auxiliary held their annual family picnic Sunday, July 20, at Pine Forest Club. Fifty persons attended representing 15 families.

The oldest member present was Joseph Demeuse and the youngest was Mary Alice, three-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lippens. The largest family group was the Albert LaFave family. Juliann Sinnave traveled the greatest distance to attend. Among guests were sons of Joseph Demeuse, Corporal Norman Demeuse who has returned from Germany and has been discharged after 4 years of service, and Pfc. Raymond Demeuse who came from Ft. Hood, Tex., and is leaving for overseas at the close of his leave.

Due to the rain the picnic was moved indoors. Games and dancing were amusements and two duets were sung by Rose Mary and George LaFave. Small prizes were given winners in the games. Mrs. Viola Goodman received the guest award.

The picnic lunch with afternoon refreshments and ice cream completed the day's program.

Small fry love to decorate cookies. For a quick frosting mix a half-cup of confectioners sugar with two to two-and-one-half-teaspoons milk and tint a pretty pink, then let the youngsters spread and have fun!

Disillusioned Mother Poisons Daughter's Mind

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.

When a person has had an unhappy experience, she is likely to be bitter and disillusioned. This unfavorable attitude expresses itself in the advice she gives others. Here is a typical case:

(Q) "I am very much in love with a wonderful fellow. My mother has been telling me for years that I shouldn't marry until I am 25 years old because, she says, no matter how nice a fellow is to you before you are married, he isn't going to treat you nicely after he marries you. She also tells me I'm going to be sorry after I marry this fellow. Now I don't know what to do."

(A) In one respect, your mother's advice is good. You have a much greater chance for a happy marriage if you are a bit older than most girls think they should be when they marry. That does not mean that you should wait until your 25th birthday but it would be wise to wait until you are close to that time.

There are several reasons for this. In the first place, you and the man you marry will be more mature and, as a result, will be able to adjust to each other and to marriage better.

Then there is the financial situation. If you wait until he gets on his feet in business, you will not have to worry as much as young people usually do. Financial problems cause lots of unhappiness in marriage.

As for a man's not treating his wife well after marriage, that is not always true. No man marries with the intention of treating his wife badly. If he does so, it is because he is unhappy and disillusioned. In many cases, that is his wife's fault.

Your mother's marriage may not have been as happy as she dreamed it would be. This has made her bitter and disillusioned. She is trying to keep you from the same unhappiness she has had but I think she has gone about it the wrong way.

Ask her to tell you what has made her marriage unhappy and what part she has contributed to this unhappiness. They you can profit by her experience. If you are prepared to make your marriage happy, you have a very good chance of success.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

Grand Marais Woman Dies

Funeral services for Thelma Alina Niemi, 72, of Grand Marais, who died at 10:30 p. m. Friday at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, were held at 2:30 this afternoon from the First Lutheran Church at Grand Marais.

Burial was made in the Grand Marais cemetery under the direction of the Kefauver and Jackson Funeral home.

Mrs. Niemi had been a patient at the local hospital for 12 days, and had been in ailing health for some time.

She was born Oct. 15, 1879, in Finland and had been a resident of Grand Marais for many years. She was a member of the First Lutheran Church of that community.

She is survived by her husband, Alex Niemi, of Grand Marais; four daughters, Mrs. Edwin Benson, of Lansing, Mrs. Edward Hermanson, of Grand Marais, and Mrs. Francis Thomas and Mrs. William Thomas of Escanaba; five sons, Alex and Hugo of Grand Marais, Elmer of Escanaba, Walter, of Serey, and Vern, of Las Vegas, Nev.; and 14 grandchildren and one grandchild.

Girl, 16, Sustains Minor Hip Injuries Saturday Morning

Dawn Johnson, 16, of Manistique Route 1, was dismissed Saturday from the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital following treatment for hip cuts and bruises received early Saturday morning in an accident on a county road about four miles east of Manistique.

The girl was accidentally run over by a car driven by Harold Blosser, 15, of Cooks. The car was owned by Harold Gray, 18, also of Cooks. The accident occurred about 2:30 a. m. following a beach party.

Manistique state police were still investigating details of the accident yesterday, it was reported at the local post.

United States Fools Tin Price Gougers And Saves 500 Million

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States, in standing firm against an international tin cartel, saved 500 million dollars and proved America is not fair game for an economic buccaneer, says a Senate report.

A Senate preparedness subcommittee headed by Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) yesterday said a combine of British, Dutch, Belgian and Bolivian tin interests tried "to gouge the United States for exorbitant profits."

After the Korean war started, it said, tin prices skyrocketed from 7 1/2 cents a pound (New York) to almost $2 but U. S. government agencies joined in refusing to pay the price. The deadlock was broken last January when this country agreed with the British for a $1.18 price.

Manistique Township Cottage May Be Used As Housing Example

The cottage of Mrs. Hulda Olson Hendrickson at the Frank Arrowood farm in Manistique township, made over from a two-car garage and especially designed at small cost as an attractive and comfortable home for an elderly person.

A remodeled two-car garage at the Frank Arrowood farm in Manistique township, especially redesigned as an attractive small cottage may be cited as a desirable type of home for an aged person at a conference on "Housing the Aged" this weekend at the University of Michigan.

Selection of the Manistique township home for possible conference study was made by the gerontology committee of the Manistique Women's Club which for several months has been carrying on an active program in the Manistique area to focus public attention on the needs of retired elderly people.

Information about the cottage is being sent this week by the local women's club committee to Dr. Wilma Donahue, chairman of the U. of M. gerontology division which has convened the housing conference. The session is scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 24, 25 and 26.

Cooperating with the gerontology division are various schools of the university, besides the Michigan State Medical Society, the Federal Security Administration, the Housing and Home Finance Agency, and the Committee on Organized Geriatrics. The Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs is also taking a deep interest in the conference because of its current program on gerontology.

Dreams of Ideal Cottage

The little home in Manistique township was remodeled under the direction of Mrs. Hulda Olson Hendrickson, 77, after she retired several years ago and moved from Menominee County to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Arrowood.

For many years prior to her retirement Mrs. Hendrickson had been dreaming about the type of home she wanted for her declining years, and the two-car garage near the Arrowood farm home fired her imagination with its possibilities.

The garage was located across the driveway from the house, in the shelter of a large apple tree. After Mrs. Hendrickson selected it for her home, she had it moved back a distance from the farm road to afford space for a front yard.

Concrete footings were poured, reaching below the frost line, to support the building, and a large concrete beam was laid across the center as additional support.

The building was completely insulated, making it easy to heat with a small oil space heater. Standard barn windows were used in the cottage, set in pairs to achieve the effect of casement windows. The windows have no curtains but flowered drapes reaching to the sills impart an especially cozy and attractive appearance.

Old Lumber Used

Wherever possible, old lumber from farm buildings was used in remodeling the garage building. The floor is built of sanded and varnished matched hardwood taken from an unused granary in a barn. Interior walls are wall-board, three of them painted cream color and the other papered in a color complementary to the other walls and a soft blue ceiling.

Mrs. Hendrickson directed that the ceiling be seven feet high instead of the usual eight so she can sweep down cobwebs and dust with a broom with a minimum of stretching.

She had the same idea in mind when she insisted that wallplugs be waisted high instead of near the floor. This was a eliminate stooping when she plugged in various electrical fixtures.

The house was planned to hold exactly the furniture she desired to keep. Each piece was chosen for its usefulness as well as sentimental value. Her floor is covered with rag rugs and hooked rugs which, she admits, require extra work. She prepared the rugs for weaver herself and also hooked the other rugs, and wants to have them as long as she has the energy to care for them.

Did Much of Own Work

Her children helped with the building but Mrs. Hendrickson sanded the interior woodwork herself by laying it on a table and sitting at the job before each piece was nailed in place by her son-in-law. She also gave the outside its undercoat of paint as high as she could reach without using a ladder.

To decorate the interior she selected flowered drapes, and then mixed paint herself to match for a bookcase partition and the inside of her showcase china cabinet. A friend gave her an old bedspread which she dyed a harmonizing color and used to cover clothing and shelves in an entry closet. Remnants of a harmonizing tone also were found by Mrs. Hendrickson to cover an attractive window seat.

dishes, combined to give the little cottage an appearance of unusual charm and coziness.

The cottage exterior also is neat and attractive and reveals the result of a lively imagination at work. The home is framed by a bed of pansies, canterbury bells, roses and other flowers. Even oil barrels used to store fuel for her stove have been camouflaged to add beauty to the general scene. Mrs. Hendrickson secured cull broom handles from a factory in Manistique and made a neat white fence around the oil drums.

Adequate Plumbing

Plumbing facilities in the cottage include a kitchen sink which doubles as a washbasin. Its plumbing is complete. Because of plumbing costs the house is equipped with chemical toilet facilities but Mrs. Hendrickson hopes to install a flush type before long.

Since Mrs. Hendrickson steps across the lane to have dinners with her daughter and family, she prepares herself only one other meal, a combination breakfast and lunch cooked on a two-unit electric plate. She also has an electric toaster and coffee maker.

Mrs. Hendrickson was born in Sweden and came to the United States with her parents and five brothers and sisters at the age of seven. The family lived in Neegaunee for eight years and then moved to Ironwood where two of her brothers later founded the Olson Wholesale Grocery Company.

She was married in Ironwood in 1893 to the Rev. John Hendrickson. The young couple moved to Chicago where they resided five years before returning to the Upper Peninsula. The young minister and his family settled on his father's farm, near Stephenson in Menominee County and he divided his time between farming and traveling to various Evangelical Covenant Churches in the peninsula.

In 1912 the family returned to Ironwood where the Rev. Hendrickson assumed the pastorate of a church he had founded. Three years later he died, and Mrs. Hendrickson was left with six children, two grown sons and four minors. She returned to the Menominee County farm and operated the place with the help of her children.

In addition to her activities at home Mrs. Hendrickson soon found herself occupied with aiding her neighbors in times of sickness. She became so well and favorably known in this field that a Stephenson doctor recommended her when it was learned that Gladstone was seeking a visiting nurse.

According to Mrs. Hendrickson there were many people in Gladstone at that time who did not speak English, were unaware of sickroom sanitary practices and mistrusted the intrusion of welfare workers. It was with these people that she worked and she soon found that her foreign birth and her ability to speak Swedish aided a great deal in breaking down the barriers of suspicion. She remained in the Gladstone area for four years.

After another five years spent in caring for a widowed brother's family, Mrs. Hendrickson became what she called a "suitcase" resident among her children, going where needed, to help care for new grandchildren.

Still Enjoys Life

A few years ago she decided the time had come to "light

Former Local Resident Dies July 13 In Alpena

Mrs. G. Arthur McKenzie, a former resident of Manistique passed away suddenly Sunday morning, July 13, at her home near Alpena, according to word received here Saturday.

She was born Nov. 23, 1885, in Alcona County, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hawes. The McKenzies spent about 25 years as residents of the Manistique area, moving to Alpena about 12 years ago.

Surviving are a son, Arthur, and a granddaughter, Linda Lou, of Alpena; a brother, Frank, of Pontiac; two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Bugar, of Barton City and Mrs. Ethel Peacock of Route 1, Alpena. Funeral services were held from the Bannan Funeral Home, Alpena, with the Rev. William R. Hartman officiating. Burial was made in Bolton cemetery, Alpena County.

somewhere," near one of her children, and she chose the farm of her daughter in Manistique township.

She still enjoys fine health, with good eyesight and hearing, but has lately been under a physician's observation because of overweight.

Like many other local elderly persons, Mrs. Hendrickson's life has been so full of varying interests and activities that she is seldom lonesome. She hooks rugs, crochets, prepares rags for rag rugs, and sews for herself, her daughter and her neighbors. She also delights in having friends drop in for tea.

"My only regret," she says, "is that life cannot possibly be long enough to accomplish all the things I want to do. My mother used to scold me when I was a child because I was always trying out things I had heard about. This trait has served to add new zest daily to life, however."

National Forest Timber For Sale

Sealed bids will be received by the Forest Supervisor, Escanaba, Michigan, up to 2:00 P. M. (E. S. T.), August 25, 1952 and will be opened immediately thereafter, for 1645 jack pine trees marked for cutting on an area of approximately 170 acres in Sections 2 and 11, T. 43 N., R. 17 W., Michigan Meridian, Hiawatha National Forest, estimated to contain a net volume of 245 cords of jack pine pulpwood, more or less. The volume of the marked trees has been determined by measuring the diameter breast high and the merchantable height of each tree and applying approved volume tables, which are on file in the Supervisor's office and making allowance for the estimated defect. The volume indicated above is to be accepted as final by the purchaser. No bid of less than $606.00 will be accepted. In addition to the price bid for stumpage the purchaser will be required to make a deposit of $500.00 to be held for sale area betterment work, and $200.00 to be used for slash disposal work. A deposit of $300.00 must accompany each bid to be applied on the purchase price, refunded or retained in part as liquidated damages according to the conditions of sale. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. Before bids are submitted the marked timber should be examined and full information concerning the timber, conditions of sale and submission of bids should be obtained from the Forest Ranger, Manistique, Michigan, or from the Forest Supervisor, Escanaba, Michigan.

Concessions for the four-day meeting will be available on a lotage basis. Rental fees were to be decided over the weekend.

Eight Teams In Little League Tournament At Stevens Point

STEVENS POINT, Wis.—(Special)—Eight Little League baseball teams, six from Wisconsin and one each from Minnesota and Upper Michigan, will participate in a Little League sectional tournament at Mead stadium here on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 8 and 9. The teams, all-star aggregations from their respective hometown leagues, will include one team each from Wayzata, Minn., Escanaba, Mich., Kenosha, Reedsburg and Stevens Point and three teams from La Crosse.

Assignment of the tournament to Stevens Point was announced last week. The tournament here will climax Stevens Point's first year in Little League competition which saw not only the organization of the popular four-team circuit here, but also the construction of a new stadium for its program at Mead park.

Winner To Chicago
The winner of the sectional meet here will be eligible for the regional tournament scheduled at Chicago Aug. 14, 15 and 16. Winners of regional tournaments will meet in the national Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa., at the end of August. Teams must pay their own expenses to sectional meets, but the national tournament is an expenses-paid journey, with the United States Rubber company acting as host to all players and managers participating at Williamsport.

Nick Jelich has been named as tournament director for the sectional meet, with Wallace North as his assistant. Pairings for the two-day sudden-death affair follow: In the opening doubleheader on Friday morning, Aug. 8, at 9 o'clock, Escanaba will meet Kenosha, with the La Crosse Americans and the La Crosse Federals opposing each other in the other contest at 1:30. The La Crosse Nationals will meet Reedsburg, while the Stevens Point-Wayzata fray at 3 p. m. will close the first day's activity on the diamond.

Finals Saturday
The winners of Friday morning's games will square off at 9 a. m. on Saturday, followed by the Friday afternoon winners against each other at 10:30. The finals are scheduled for 3 p. m. Saturday afternoon between the winners of Saturday morning's contests. No consolation round is scheduled.

To establish the pairings for the first round, the teams were listed alphabetically and numbered one through eight. No. 1 was matched with No. 2, No. 3 against No. 4, No. 5 opposes No. 6 and No. 7 faces No. 8. Trophies will be awarded to each player on the tournament championship squad, with smaller trophies to be given to the individual players on each of the teams participating in the meet.

Planned for Friday evening is a banquet for the playing personnel and their managers at the Whiting hotel. The banquet will be open for the public up to the seating limitations of the hotel dining room.

Remember that $40,000 bonus we mentioned a couple of weeks ago with the Green Bay Bluejays? He's not breaking down any fences in the Wisconsin State League as yet. At the plate 40 times, Billy Moran, highly regarded 19-year-old shortstop from Atlanta, Ga., has only seven hits for a .175 average. Hitting star of the club is Frank Tanana. You may remember the name from the sport pages of last basketball season. Tanana is the boy who was reported to have taken over the coaching duties at Detroit St. Andrews when his coach left for Spring baseball duties with the Cleveland Indians. St. Andrews went on to capture a state title. The coach was none other than Nap Ross, Cleveland Indian scout who conducted the tryout camp here recently. Ross signed the youth to a Cleveland contract as soon as he graduated. He's batting .326 to date.

Marquette softball pitchers went crazy last week. Three different chucks turned in no-hitters in the midget and junior circuits. Escanaba batters have yet to suffer the indignity of a hitless game in league softball this season. Kenny Dufresne tossed one last season.

Ray Menard, former Escanaba Bear hurler, continues to find Northern State League batters to his liking. He tossed another win for Menominee last week. Menard was featured in an unusual incident in the game. At the plate facing Marinette hurler Fred Hilmer, Menard worked a full 3-2 count and then fouled off 10 straight pitches. On the 16th pitch, Menard lofted an easy fly to left field.

LARRY BARTELL demonstrates a call to umpires of the Tri County baseball league in the Daily Press umpire school held at the city diamond Saturday. Bartell, of Oshkosh, Wis., conducted a three-hour class for baseball arbiters from the Tri County League and the city recreation department. (Daily Press Daily)

Pony League Drive Opens Today; All-Star Game Set

Pony League baseball players began their fund drive to raise money to finance a district tournament trip to Joliet, Ill., today with 90 boys out in the city.

The ball players are selling tickets to an all-star game which will be played Tuesday at 6:47 p. m. at Memorial Field diamond. The Pony League all-stars, who will be selected by team managers tomorrow, will face the Escanaba Cubs of the Waubesa League.

The Cubs, last year's state Little League champions, are the same age group as the Pony Leaguers, ranging from about 14 to 16 years old. The ex-Little Leaguers elected to step into Junior Legion ranks this season instead of playing in the Pony League.

Cub Starters
Manager Al Ness has named his starters for Tuesday night. Pitching against the all-stars will be Ricky Erickson with Al Erickson receiving his slants. Bob Chriske will be at first, Bob Dubord at second, Bucky Flath at third, Bill Goodreau at short and Gary Hiru, Tony Kutches and Cliff O'Donnell in the outfield. On hand for reserve duty will be Gary Paler and John Berrigan, pitchers, and Dave Viau, outfielder.

The game will be a seven-inning affair and will be followed by an American League softball attraction between the Dells and Paper Mill teams starting at 8:45.

Tourney Friday
The Pony League made its first appearance in Escanaba this season. The league is made up of six teams, sponsored by Escanaba business and professional people. Players will canvass the city selling tickets to Tuesday's game today and tomorrow. No charge will be made at the gate but a collection will be taken among the spectators.

The Pony League tournament will open at Joliet July 25. Escanaba is slated for action at 7 p. m. Championship game will be July 26 at 8:30 and will be preceded by a consolation clash. Six teams are entered.

Softball
Monday, Clairmont Oldtimers vs. St. Joe Boosters at 6:30, Harnischfeger vs. Phils and Eys at 7:45, White Birch vs. Carney at 9:00 at Memorial Field; Escanaba Township vs. St. Thomas Nationals at Dock.

Westby's Service, newly reorganized team in the National League, will practice at Webster diamond tonight at 7.

U. P. Softball Bid For State Tourney Draws Rejection

LUDINGTON, Mich.—(AP)—The State Softball Tournament will be held at Three Centers, State Softball Commissioner Herb Kipke announced today, marking the first time the big Labor Day weekend had been split up. The tournament had been held in Lansing for years and last year in Flint.

Ludington will be the scene of the State Class A men's and women's Class C session. Owosso will have both the men's and women's B tournament and Cadillac will host the men's C and women's A tournaments.

The application of Ironwood in the U. P. was rejected because of its location and Ionia withdrew its bid. The selections were made at the annual summer meeting held here Saturday and Sunday. Put over to the annual meeting in March in Lansing was a proposal to re-divide the state, making the Upper Peninsula one region instead of two and giving Southern Michigan another region.

U. S. Track And Field Stars Dominate; Three Olympic Marks Broken

HELSINKI—(AP)—The United States scored a grand slam today in the shot put of the Olympic games. Parry O'Brien, Darrow Hooper and Jim Fuchs finished 1-2-3, with O'Brien setting a new Olympic record of 17.41 meters (57 feet 1.43 inches).

The old record was 17.12 meters (56 feet 2.03 inches) set by Wilbur Thompson of the United States at London in 1948. Hooper also bettered the Olympic record with a throw of 57 feet 0.65 inches.

HELSINKI—(AP)—America's jumpers and weight throwers continued to dominate the major events in the 15th Olympic games today as the second day's track and field events began.

The United States, which placed one-two in the high jump yesterday, sent three men into the final round of the shot put without effort and also qualified all its three entries for the broad jump final.

Without even taking off their sweat suits, Parry O'Brien of Southern California, world record holder Jim Fuchs of New York and Darrow Hooper of Fort Worth, Tex., surpassed the required distance of 47 feet 20.81 inches in the shot put.

Three Qualify
The broad jumpers had a little more trouble, but Meredith (Flash) Guordine of Cornell, Jerome Biffle of the U. S. Army and George Brown of the University of California at Los Angeles all surpassed 24 feet on their qualifying jumps. A leap of 23 feet 7.47 inches was required to qualify for this afternoon's finals.

The pole vault, third qualifying event on this morning's program, also was expected to be easy for the American trio of Rev. Robert Richards of Laverne, Calif., Don Laz of Champaign, Ill., and George Mattos of San Francisco. All were drawn in the second flight of vaulters. The required height of 13 feet 1.47 inches proved troublesome for the first flight.

O'Brien turned in the best qualifying effort in the shot put—52 feet 7.90 inches. Guordine, after missing on his first attempt, jumped 24 feet 3.73 inches the second time to qualify just ahead of Biffle.

As a result of yesterday's trials, the United States also had three qualifiers in the semi-finals of the 100 meter dash and 400 meter hurdles, also scheduled for later today.

Crews Make It
Rowing competition today was limited to repechage or "second trial" heats. Most of the American crews already qualified for the semi-finals by placed first or second in yesterday's trials. The repechage heats gave crews beaten in their first races another chance to qualify for the semi-finals.

In wrestling American bantamweight Bill Borders of Tulsa, Okla., lost a decision to Mohammad Yaghoubi of Iran. He had won his first match yesterday and defeat today did not mean elimination. Five "bad marks" are required for elimination. A loss by decision costs one bad mark while three are charged against a wrestler who is pinned.

Four Olympic records were bettered yesterday—three in final events and another in a preliminary. And two more records are in grave danger tonight—the 400-meter hurdles and the shot put.

New Records
The record smashes in final events yesterday were:
1. Walt Davis, a Texas cowboy, who cleared 6 feet 8.32 inches in the high jump.
2. Nina Romaschkova, a new name among the powerful Russian women's champion.

Former world's heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis finished fourth with 150 on the Kearsley golf course. Four men were released after treatment and Eugene Brown, 31, Flint, was hospitalized.

HOOT HITTING
BOSTON—(AP)—Hoot Evers, who came to the Red Sox in that big deal with Detroit last month, is one of the reasons why Lou Boudreau's men are flying high these days. Hoot rapped out three safeties, including a homer in yesterday's 8-7 triumph over Cleveland, and brought his average up to .287.

Al's Legion Moves Into Tourney Finals

MENOMINEE—(Special)—Al's Bark River Legion team continued undefeated in American Legion tournament play here Saturday, posting a pair of victories over Gladstone and Menominee.

The Sunday championship slate was rained out. In semi-final action, Gladstone plays Menominee tonight. The winner will meet Al's tomorrow for the 11th district championship. As both Gladstone and Menominee already have suffered one loss, Al's team could clinch the title with one win Tuesday. Two losses are necessary for elimination.

37 Strikeouts
Gladstone's Norbert Butler continued as the pitching sensation of the tournament. He boosted his strikeout total to 37 in hurling Gladstone to a 20-2 victory over Cornell. The game between Gladstone and Menominee tonight is slated for 8:30 EST.

Al's scored singletons in the third, fourth and fifth and then let loose with three in the sixth to ice the victory. Menominee's final run came in the top of the ninth. Al's collected 18 hits in the two games, with Dave Kwarciany contributing a triple in each. Bob Sendenbergh had a perfect day at the plate against Gladstone with a double and three singles in four trips.

Rain Washes Out Baseball Schedule
Rain completely washed out the Upper Peninsula baseball schedule yesterday afternoon. All games in the Tri County, Bay de Noc and the American Legion district tournament at Menominee were postponed.

Frank Katrinski Tops Little League Batters

Katrinski, at bat 23 times, has 13 hits on the books and has scored six runs. Leading scorer is Wayne Cartwright of the Lions, who has crossed the plate 11 times. Gene Seguin of Kiwanis has scored 10 runs.

Kiwanis has four batters in the top 10. In addition to Katrinski and Seguin, are Bob Stropich and Ted Frizzell in the top 10. Kiwanis also boasts the No. 1 pitcher in the league in the form of Bob Stropich who has five straight victories. Donald Anderson, Rotary hurler, has a 4-1 record.

First half action in Little League was completed last week.

Engineers Lose Two Games Here

Escanaba softball teams proved poor hosts to the CCI Engineers of Ishpeming last night.

In a twin bill, threatened until the last minute by rain, Ishpeming's crack club dropped both ends to the Dells and White Birch.

Kenny Dufresne chucked D-B's to a 5-0 shutout with Ed Tromblay working on the mound for the visitors. Leo Lancour went the route on the White Birch mound as the American League leaders posted an 8-6 victory. Dufresne scattered four hits.

Saturday night White Birch traveled to Iron Mountain and took a 13-3 setback at the hands of the Liberty Loans.

Top Little League Teams Play Tuesday
Top teams in the Little League standings will clash tomorrow evening at 6:30 when Rotary takes on Kiwanis. The clubs are tied for first place.

Wednesday evening St. Joe and Lions will meet at 6:30. The games mark the opening of second round competition.

Bears Host To Bark River On Thursday

The one-two teams in the Tri County League, Escanaba and Bark River, will tangle in an exhibition tilt at the city diamond here Thursday evening at 6.

The game looms as a natural attraction. In addition to their lofty berths in the standings, the teams have an even break in two previous meetings.

Manager Leo Knauf's Barks won 2-1 here in the first round and Manager Jack Beck's Bears edged out a 2-1 margin in five innings at Bark River in the second round.

Softball
Monday, Clairmont Oldtimers vs. St. Joe Boosters at 6:30, Harnischfeger vs. Phils and Eys at 7:45, White Birch vs. Carney at 9:00 at Memorial Field; Escanaba Township vs. St. Thomas Nationals at Dock.

Westby's Service, newly reorganized team in the National League, will practice at Webster diamond tonight at 7.

Washington A Surprise Third

One-Run Wins Aid Senators

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Four consecutive victories by one run... 21 one-run triumphs for the season. That is the principal reason why Washington's scrappy Senators are in third place today after all but a handful of experts picked them to finish in the American League cellar.

The Nats added their fourth straight one-run victory yesterday as they swept a doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns, 7-6 and 6-3, to move into third place, a half game behind the Boston Red Sox.

Olympic Track Champ Favors Cage Career

HELSINKI — (AP) — Stringbean Walter Davis is the world's greatest high-jumper, the new Olympic champion and record holder, but from now on his main jumping will be at basketball hoops.

The 21-year-old former Texas A. and M. athlete said today he plans to give up competitive track to tend to cows and try for buckets in the fast National Basketball Association.

"Economic reasons," he added, as he was being flooded with congratulations for his triumph yesterday, America's first in these summer games.

Needs Money
"I feel sure that if I had two more years to jump I could break the world record," he said. "After all, I've learned almost everything I know now about high-jumping in two years."

"But I have this chance to play basketball. It means money in the winter. I have a family (one child and another expected next week). I guess I'll run my ranch in the summer and play basketball in the winter."

Davis said he has been drafted by the Philadelphia Warriors and he expects to be playing for them next season.

The world record for the high jump is six feet, 11 inches, set by Les Steers of the United States

Seixas Retains Tennis Crown

HVERFORD, Pa. — (AP) — America's No. 1 amateur tennis player Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, kept firm hold on his Pennsylvania and Eastern States court crown by defeating Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., 8-6, 6-4, 6-1 in their final match at Merion Cricket club yesterday.

In a marathon doubles final, Clark teamed with Bob Perry of Los Angeles to subdue Seixas and Bill Vogt, also of Philadelphia, 20-22, 13-11, 6-0, 6-4. The match consumed 85 games and three hours and 15 minutes.

Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly of San Diego, Calif., winner of the women's title Saturday, joined with Perry in the mixed doubles to take a 6-3, 6-3 match from Seixas and Mrs. Bunny Harshaw Vosters, Philadelphia women's star who bowed to Miss Connolly in the women's singles.

The double triumph stretched their winning streak to five games.

The Red Sox picked up a full game on the pace-setting Yankees, vanquishing the Indians, 8-7, in 12 innings on Johnny Lipon's bases-loaded single. The fifth-place Chicago White Sox upset the world champions, 5-4. Homers by Eddie Robinson and Sherm Lollar ended Chicago's six-game losing streak.

3-3 Tie

Philadelphia's Athletics took the opener of a doubleheader from Detroit, 8-7, on Joe Tipton's ninth-inning single. The teams then played a 3-3 tie in the second game, halted by Pennsylvania's curfew at the end of nine innings. The Tigers tallied twice in the top of the 10th to take a 5-3 lead but the score reverted back to the end of the ninth as the Athletics did not have time to take their turn at bat in the 10th. The nightcap will have to be played over.

Brooklyn's runaway Dodgers maintained their 7½ game bulge in the National League, taking Pittsburgh into camp for the 13th straight time, 8-5. The runner-up New York Giants whipped the Chicago Cubs, 9-7, and the third-place St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Boston Braves, 8-4.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati divided a doubleheader, three Phillies bounding back behind Robin Roberts with a 4-3 win after the Reds had taken the opener, 6-5 in 10 innings.

Homers Help
Washington gave Connie Marrero a 7-1 lead in the first game but the Cuban righthander was tagged for five runs in the eighth before Joe Haynes quelled the Brownie uprising.

Bob Porterfield had a 6-0 lead in the second game but he, too, weakened in the late innings and gave way to Sandy Consuegra.

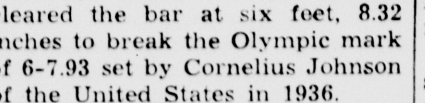

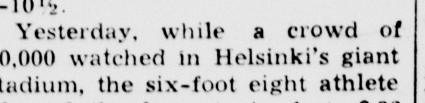

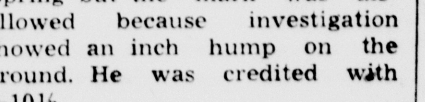

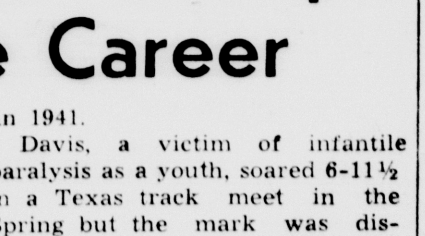

Home runs by George Shuba, Jackie Robinson and Andy Pafko helped the Dodgers make it 13 out of 13 against the Pirates.

Three hits each by Bobby Thompson and Hank Thompson enabled Larry Jansen to pick up his 10th triumph as the Giants evened the two-game series with the Cubs. Home runs featured the Cardinals' victory with Dick Sisk, Red Schoendienst and Solly Hemus providing the four-base blows.

Tigers Battle Pirates In Cellar-Dweller Go Tonight

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, who feel they were cheated out of a victory by the Philadelphia Athletics' stalling tactics, have rosier things to think about today.

Despite their continued losses the Tigers are gaining big ground in the battle to get out of the American league cellar.

The Tigers lost the first game of yesterday's scheduled doubleheader to the Athletics 8-7 and saw the second game cancelled out in the tenth inning (with the Tigers leading) because of the Pennsylvania Sunday curfew law.

Gain Half-Game
Despite that the Tigers gained a half game on St. Louis, twice loser to Washington. Three weeks ago Detroit trailed St. Louis 9½ games and was nine games behind in the loss column. Today Detroit trails by 5 games and is only 3 games off in the loss column. The Browns have been losing more often than the Tigers.

The Tigers staggered to a 3-10 record on their first road trip under new manager Fred Hutchinson.

They'll open a home stand at Briggs Stadium Tuesday night against Washington.

But first they'll perform here in Pittsburgh tonight against the Pirates in a clash featuring the majors' two last-place teams.

It's being billed as the battle to see which is the worst team in the majors.

The Tigers have now suffered one third-20 of 59—of their defeats by one run. The A's won with one out in the last of the ninth when Joe Astoth singled home Billy Hitchcock from second.

Drop Homers
In the see saw battle Walt Droppo's 15th home run tied the score at seven for Detroit in the top of the ninth. Hal White, fourth Tiger hurler was the loser, and Ed Wright the winner.

The nightcap turned into a real farce because of the curfew law that says no baseball after 5:59 p. m. (EST) on Sundays.

The Tigers scored a tie-breaking run in the top of the 10th with the clock showing only minutes to play under the law.

Immediately the stalling antics began. Hutchinson protested to the umpires but there was little could be done since all the moves were legal.

Droppo's single chased home the tie-breaking run. The A's changed pitchers two times and Vic Wertz

None Injured In 2 Auto Accidents

Autos driven by Carl Westergaard, 40, Chicago, and Frank Porudcan, 33, Milwaukee, side-swiped each other on US-2 near County Road 551 Saturday.

The autos were meeting and both drivers were crowding the centerline, according to Michigan State Police who investigated. None was injured.

A second auto accident investigated by Michigan State Police over the weekend occurred near Carroll's Corners at 12:05 Sunday morning when autos driven by Peter Plourde, 48, Cornell, and Clarence Evans, 23, Cornell, collided as Plourde was rounding the corner turning south.

Indications were that Plourde made a wide turn and was over the centerline at the time of the collision. He was ticketed for driving on the wrong side of the highway.

None was injured in the accident.

Bandits Loot Hotel Near White House

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Police hunted for two armed bandits who escaped with more than $7,000 from a hotel a few blocks from the White House after piling furniture on their three hold-up victims.

The daring daylight robbery occurred during the noon hour Thursday just after the week's payroll cash for the Roger Smith Hotel employees had been brought from the bank.

Frank M. Foley 42, hotel auditor, said the bandits were two unmasked Negroes about 30 years old.

The pair, with drawn guns, sprang into the office from a service entrance and ordered Foley, his assistant, and a bookkeeper, to lie on the floor. Then they piled a table and chairs on the trio, grabbed the money and ran down the mezzanine steps and out a main entrance.

Draft Ordinance For Use Of Yacht Harbor

Public hearing on an ordinance designed to regulate the use of the Yacht harbor and its facilities is to be held at the next meeting of the city commission on Monday, July 28. The proposed ordinance was introduced at the last meeting of the commission.

Among various regulations it provides that the yacht harbor will be operated under the jurisdiction of a Harbor Master and the assignment of boat stalls, rowboat ramps and mooring space will be made by the Harbor Master or his duly appointed representative.

All vehicles servicing or used in connection with any type of craft must remain in the regularly established roads or parking areas.

Rowboats or other small craft must be tied or moored in areas designated by the Harbor Master.

All boats must be placed in the water or taken out of the water only at the places designated for such purposes.

All craft shall be marked with the owner's identification and shall be registered with the Harbor Master.

All cradles and other special equipment necessary for the storage of any type of craft shall be furnished by the owner of such craft. The owners will be allowed to repair their craft within the storage area, but the area immediately surrounding such craft must be maintained by the owner in a neat and orderly manner.

All boats shall be launched before May 15 or removed from city property.

The maximum speed limit of all craft in the yacht harbor area shall be five miles per hour.

Fees in connection with use of the harbor are to be set by resolution of the City Commission.

An person violating any of the provisions of the ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $25 and costs of prosecution or by imprisonment not to exceed 10 days or by both such fine and imprisonment. Each violation of this ordinance shall be considered separate offenses.

Enforcement of the ordinance shall be the duty of the police department through its proper officials or agents, according to the provisions.

Dick Maki Has Perfect Game

Kipling maintained its dominant pacesetting spot in the Gladstone Softball league and at the close of the week's play was 4½ games out in front of Stonington and the Lions, who are deadlocked for second.

Feature of the week was Dick Maki's perfect game which resulted in a 1-0 victory for Kipling over Trenary. Dick struck out 12 while pitching to a minimum of 21 men. The Kipling run was unearned. In the other Thursday night tilt the Lions beat Stonington, 4-0.

The Merchants walloped Ensign, 17-3, while Trenary defeated the Veneer Mill, 6-2, Tuesday evening.

This week's schedule:
Tonight—Kipling vs. Lions; Stonington vs. Merchants; Ensign at Trenary.

Tuesday—Veneer Mill vs. Ensign; Merchants vs. Lions.

Thursday—Kipling vs. Veneer Mill; Lions vs. Trenary.

Copper Country Gains Fame As Vacationland

It would take years of short vacation trips to see all that makes up the Upper Peninsula's famous Copper Country. It's an area rich in mining and military history, one that in the last two decades has progressed far in moving to the front as a vacationland.

Copper Harbor, Fort Wilkins, Lake Fanny Hoee, Brockway Mountain Drive, Quincy Mine, Portage Lake—all these and many more are names that have become familiar in the Copper Country vacation picture.

Long before America was fighting the Civil War, Houghton and Keweenaw counties were the sites of thriving communities. But where visitors once came to trade with the Indians or to prospect for fabulous copper deposits, they come today to witness the grandeur of an area that has much to offer vacationists.

Mining Began In 1844

Hundreds of years ago, Indians fashioned tools and weapons from the pure masses of copper found there, but actually mining of copper by the white man did not begin until 1844 at Copper Harbor.

To reach that historic spot—northernmost point in Upper Michigan—visitors enter the Keweenaw Peninsula by crossing the bridge over the Portage Canal between Houghton and Hancock. Turning left into Hancock (let's save the turn right for another visit), highway US-41 takes motorists direct to Calumet, site of the famous Calumet and Hecla Copper Mine and once one of the world's principal producers of that metal.

Then through the mining towns of Allouez, Ahmeek and Moehawk and on to Copper Harbor and Fort Wilkins.

Or drivers can take highway M-26 to reach the peak of Keweenawland, a shore road that goes through Eagle River and gives visitors an opportunity to see the Douglass Houghton monument, erected to the memory of Michigan's first state geologist. Eagle River falls and the sand dunes drive are among the places in this area awaiting visitors.

Historic Fort Wilkins

Eagle Harbor, an active lake port and now a leading vacation center, also is on this route. It's the gateway to the Brockway

Mountain Drive.

Copper Harbor and Fort Wilkins are at the end of US-41, a highway that starts way down in Florida. The fort was erected by the U. S. Government in 1844, and some of the original stockade can still be seen there. Through efforts of Upper Peninsula Development Bureau officials and other civic-minded citizens, the site was acquired as a state park and is now being reconstructed. Visitors can spend many hours roaming through buildings inside the stockade.

Copper Harbor, another old-time mining camp and entry port long before the Civil War, is almost directly below. It is now a rapidly expanding resort center. Cruisers also leave here regularly for Isle Royale, a national park out in Lake Superior.

For those who want to spend a few days in this vacationland, excellent fishing can be found in nearby streams and lakes. Like many another port on Lake Superior, deep-sea fishing has become one of the great sports of this region. Good boats and equipment are available from local fishermen, who know spots on Lake Superior where lake trout weighing up to 40 and 50 pounds have been caught.

On the return trip, travel over the famous Brockway Mountain Drive. This rises to 650 feet above Lake Superior, and from its heights tourists can see passing ore and freight vessels many miles out on the lake. Solid masonry walls have been built all along the edge of the bluffs to keep cars from going over.

Tallest Skyscraper Gets Weatherproofed

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Empire State Building is being weatherproofed again. Maintenance men say rain, frost and heat crack the cement in joints of the world's tallest building as they do in most other buildings.

In the 21 years the building has stood, they have been over in three times, replacing cement and calking material where weather has damaged it. Work will be done this time from the ground to the 104th story.

Fargo Banker New Elks Head

SAM STERN

NEW YORK—Special—Sam Stern, Fargo, N. D., banker, merchant and civic leader, was elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at its 88th Grand Lodge Convention here today.

Stern, who was unopposed, was elected unanimously as Convention business sessions got under way in the Waldorf Astoria following the colorful public opening ceremonies Sunday night. He is the first North Dakotan to head the Order of Elks in its 84 years history. Stern has served as North Dakota chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis since its inception, has been chairman of the North Dakota State Crippled Children Commission for 11 years, and was a founder and for many years head of the State Elks Association's Crippled Children Program, which established Camp Grassick.

an institution for handicapped children, near Bismarck. Stern will be installed at the closing convention session Thursday, July 17, succeeding Howard R. Davis of Williamsport, Pa.

Grand Exalted Ruler Davis reported that membership showed a gain for the 13th consecutive year, an increase of 28,604 which brought the Order's membership to an all-time high of 1,069,868. Nineteen new lodges were instituted in 14 states and Alaska during the past year, bringing the total to 1,610.

Convention officials reported over 15,000 Elks and their wives in attendance, and said this figure would climb to nearly 30,000 before the meeting ends.

Electricity Builds A Better Mousetrap

NEW YORK—(AP)—A new mousetrap kills by electric shock that cannot be transmitted to humans because of its unique design.

The device, invented by A. G. Burns of Farmland, Ind., catches, slays and places the dead rodent's body in a drawer compartment. The drawer is removable for easy cleaning and eliminates handling the mouse.

The trap resets itself after each execution within a fraction of a second. The device is now being manufactured in volume. (Jalco Motor Co., Union City, Ind.)

Higher Costs Erase Gain In Income For Average U. S. Family

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The average American family made more in 1951 than it did the year before—but it was worse off because rising prices and climbing taxes more than wiped out the gain in income.

The Federal Reserve Board said yesterday its survey of consumer finances showed that average total income of "spending units"—mostly families—rose from $3,520 in 1950 to $3,840 in 1951, a rise of about nine per cent.

But consumer prices also went up nine percent, wiping out the income gain. And increased taxes tipped the scales against the average family, cutting buying power below the previous year.
